Soviet Threatens Action In Berlin Border Incidents

Sharp Warning To West Blasts "Provocators"

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union, apparently stung by continued spectacular escapes of East Germans from Communist East Berlin, threatened Friday to step directly into the explosive Berlin situation.

The Russians accused the Western powers of provoking incidents along the Berlin wall and declared they will not permit West Berlin to continue as a base for what they called revenge-seekers and militarists.

The statement — strongest the Russians have made recently on Berlin — was contained in notes to the United States, Britain and France.

The statement picked out a number of incidents along the East-West Berlin border without mentioning that most of the trouble involved East German guards firing on escaping refugees.

Soviet May Move In Troops

The notes were delivered after Premier Khrushchev conferred Thursday with East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht.

Western diplomats here said the notes clearly implied the Soviet Union might bolster East German forces in the Berlin area with its own troops.

They said this was not so much a matter of tactical necessity as of confronting the Western powers with the threat of a direct conflict with the Soviet Union instead of East Germany.

The Soviet note to Britain, released by the Tass news agency, declared in reference to the border incidents: "It is absolutely obvious that such actions could not have taken place at all if the British and other occupation organs in West Berlin did not encourage the provocators."

Soviet Talks Tough

"The Soviet government," it added, "will not be an indifferent onlooker and in case of need will be compelled to take appropriate steps to fulfill its commitments with regard to the German Democratic Republic (East Germany), which is an ally of the U.S.S.R."

"The intensified intrigues of the revisionists and militarists in West Berlin prove once more how ripe is the task of normalizing the situation in West Berlin and for elimination there of the occupation regime," the note said — meaning withdrawal of the garisons of the Western powers.

Leading the list of incidents which the Soviet Union complained about was a shooting at 23 between West Berlin police and East German guards in which one East German was killed.

West Berlin police said they were fired upon when they were helping a wounded boy who escaped from East Berlin, out of the water.

Brothers Who Wed Sisters Celebrate

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two immigrant brothers who married immigrant sisters in 1912, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Friday.

The couples are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bittenbinder and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Bittenbinder.

They were married at St. Peter's Roman Catholic church.

Actually, it was a triple wedding. A third sister spoke the marriage vows then, too. Her husband died and she remarried.

Peter is 70, his wife, Katharine, nearly 65; Nicholas is 73, his wife, Magdalena, 66.

The brothers came to this country from Austria-Hungary in 1908, the sisters from the same land two years later.

Estes Money Sent Officials, Probers Told

Used For Tickets To Demo Dinner, Ousted Aide Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—An ousted Agriculture Department employee testified Friday he and an aide received $400 from Billie Sol Estes and used it to buy Democratic dinner tickets for the now indicted Texas financier.

James T. Ralph, former assistant secretary of agriculture, told the House Intergovernmental Relations subcommittee that two $100 money orders were sent to him and two to his aide, William E. Morris, early this year. Ralph said there was no accompanying letter from Estes, whose multi-million-dollar empire collapsed when he was indicted on fraud charges last March.

Outside the hearings, reporters were told by the subcommittee's discharged Republican counsel that Estes sent money orders to many congressmen and at least one high administration official.

Money Order List Sought

The lawyer, Robert E. Manuel, was fired as the subcommittee's minority counsel Thursday for releasing a confidential Agriculture Department report dealing with Estes to a newspaper reporter before subcommittee members had read it.

Manuel told reporters Morris had the list of names of the money order recipients and the subcommittee is trying to get it. Morris is scheduled to follow Ralph on the witness stand.

Ralph and Morris both were dismissed last month by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. Ralph for using Estes' credit card to make personal long-distance calls and Morris for refusing to tell superiors about his relations with Estes. Morris is appealing his discharge.

Sent Tickets To Estes

Both were demoted by Freeman in February, for reasons apparently unconnected with the Estes' case.

Ralph testified that when he and Morris received the money orders he asked Morris what they were for and his assistant expressed belief they were for tickets to the $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner marking the first anniversary of President Kennedy's inauguration.

Accordingly, Ralph said, he endorsed his two money orders to the California and National Democratic executive committees and sent Morris to national committee headquarters to purchase four dinner tickets. These were sent to Estes, Ralph said.

Estes Is Called By Grand Jury

FRANKLIN, Tex. (UPI)—Billie Sol Estes was subpoenaed Friday to explain his cotton allotment deals to a grand jury that is trying to determine whether farm official Henry Marshall committed suicide or was murdered.

Marshall was supposed to have been the first federal agent to suspect that anything was wrong with the way Estes got cotton allotments for his West Texas farms.

The Agriculture Department recently filed Estes $554,000 for illegally getting cotton allotments. Marshall headed the enforcement division of the allotment program in Texas.

Dist. clerk Morgan Harlan of Robertson County issued a subpoena for Estes at the direction of Dist. Atty. Bryan Russ, who has been conducting the grand jury investigation.

The subpoena was for noon, EDT, next Wednesday. The jury is in recess until Thursday and will be called back into session a day early to hear Estes.

Lee Remick Replaces Marilyn In New Film

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Buxom blonde Marilyn Monroe was fired from her new movie Friday and replaced by willowy blonde Lee Remick.

20th Century-Fox studios sacked its leading glamour girl after repeated delays in the filming of "Something's Got To Give." She had not appeared for work since last week.

Miss Remick, who never has gained the reputation for sex appeal amassed by the unemployed Miss Monroe, was brought in as a last minute substitution.

East Germans Seize Vessel, Sail To West Amid Hail Of Bullets

BERLIN (AP)—A hijack crew led by the ship's cook knocked out the captain with liquor and a blow on the head and rammed an East Berlin excursion boat to freedom Friday amid a barrage of machine-gun bullets.

Fourteen refugees, including a 14-month-old baby, reached shore unhurt after the 336-ton vessel slammed across the River Spree into a canal bank in the American sector.

"Pinch me so I realize I'm alive and out of communism," shouted the cook, Joerg Lindner, 22, after the perilous and spectacular dash.

The white double-deck boat was riddled by more than 200 bullets fired by East German guards as it swung off course and churned up a wake at top speed toward the West.

West Berlin police fired at least 10 shots at East Berlin guards when Communist bullets began ripping into apartment houses on the Western side.

With Lindner on the boat Friedrich Wolf were seven men and five women, among them Lindner's friend Jutta, 17, and her baby.

Cabinet Issue Snags Laotian Coalition Talks

KHANG KHAY, Laos (AP)—The three feuding princes of Laos encountered sudden delay Friday after a fast start on forming a coalition government for the embattled Southeast Asia kingdom. Distribution of Cabinet posts appeared to be causing trouble.

Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, backed by both the United States and the Soviet Union to head a coalition, announced the princely summit meeting decided to adjourn until Monday.

"One or two unsettled points obliged us to postpone the meeting," he said, "and each party has demanded time for reflection."

Souvanna said one question still to be settled is who will represent a Vientiane group of neutrals in the coalition.

Neutrals in Vientiane, the administrative capital, back the pro-Western government of Premier Prince Boun Oum, but do not side with either the Eastern or Western blocs internationally.

Souvanna was red-faced after a half-hour afternoon meeting with Boun Oum and Souvanna's half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, whose pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas control two-thirds of the country.

He had announced in the morning an agreement on a number of posts, including assignment of the Ministry of Information to Souphanouvong.

Souvanna said he hoped Monday's meeting will be the last before he announces formation of a coalition Cabinet.

Boun Oum and his delegation, which includes strong man Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, flew back to Vientiane. They will return to the rebel-held Plaine des Jarres Monday.

NEW YORK (AP) — Tens of thousands of New Yorkers lined lower Broadway Friday and applauded Archbishop Makarios, president of Cyprus, as he received the city's traditional ticker-tape parade.

Doctor Sought In Girl's Death Traced To Canada

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal authorities said Friday they have traced a Queens physician to an earlier one not connected with Miss Lofrumento.

Asst. U.S. Atty. John Sullivan told reporters Lofrumento has been traced to the area of his family's hunting lodge about 60 miles north of Montreal. The arrest warrant is a necessary prelude to his seizure by Canadian authorities.

Dr. Lofrumento is believed to be accompanied by his office receptionist and girl friend, Theresa Carillo, 25, a dark-haired, dark-eyed beauty. Because she is a Cuban national, police feared the two might have fled to Cuba.

However, they previously had alerted Royal Canadian Mounted Police to keep an eye on the Lofrumento hunting lodge in Canada.

In Brooklyn late Friday, U.S. Commissioner Salvatore Abruzzo issued a federal warrant, charging Lofrumento with unlawfully

McCormack Trails In Convention Fight For Endorsement

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — Ted Kennedy shot into a strong lead Friday night in his fight to win the endorsement of the Democratic state convention for U.S. senator.

With five of the 40 delegations polled Kennedy had 160 votes against 80 for his opponent, Edward J. McCormack Jr., nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack.

If all delegates vote a majority would be 860.

The convention was proceeding slowly. Most delegations votes were challenged and each delegate had to be polled individually.

Kennedy got off to a stumbling start when McCormack won a majority of the votes of the first delegation as balloting began. The Berkshire delegation went to McCormack 31-27. But Kennedy recouped after that.

The convention's decision will go far in determining whether Ted will join his two brothers in Washington.

Kennedy Confident

The convention opened at 7:30 p.m. EDT but it took 20 minutes to clear the aisles and establish order in the Municipal Auditorium.

Kennedy claimed he would win an overwhelming victory. "We have a hard count," he said, "which gives us a substantial margin. We are confident of victory. It won't be close."

McCormack disputed the claim and said he had 916 sure delegates. Since there are only 1,719 delegates, it was obvious that somebody was trying to whistle himself pass a political graveyard.

There will be only one ballot and a simple majority of the delegates will decide the issue. But the man who wins the endorsement of the convention is not automatically nominated. The loser can enter the primary in the fall.

Word "Dynasty" Used

Kennedy was placed in nomination by Congressman Edward P. Boland who praised Ted's record of public service and even dared to use the word "dynasty."

"A family that is dedicated to the public service, that is absolutely honest, that wants nothing from the public but a chance to serve—if you call that a dynasty then I say we could use more of them here in Massachusetts," Boland said.

McCormack was nominated by Salvatore Camello, vice president of the state labor conference, who referred indirectly to the political power of the White House.

Senate Unit OKs Big Arms Fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee sided with the Air Force against President Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on Friday in voting the biggest military money bill in peacetime history.

The committee sent to the Senate for expected floor action next Tuesday a bill that would provide the full $491 million requested by Air Force chief Gen. Curtis E. LeMay to speed development of the 2,000-mile-an-hour RS70 reconnaissance strike airplane.

Kennedy's budget called for only $171 million to continue development of a prototype or experimental plane and McNamara turned a deaf ear to LeMay's appeal for more funds to speed up the work.

The total appropriation approved by the Senate committee for the fiscal year starting July 1 was $48,429,221,000.

This is $322 million more than Kennedy requested for the armed services and nearly $2 billion more than Congress voted last year for the current fiscal period.

Chimp Ejected From Bomber

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A 104-pound male chimpanzee named Zena was ejected successfully Friday from a B58 bomber streaking 1,060 miles an hour above this desert test center.

After parachuting 45,000 feet in his 700-pound aluminum capsule, Zena opened his eyes, chattered softly a few seconds at waiting medical specialists, then went back to sleep.

He had been given sedatives to ease the strain of the ejection in the capsule, designed eventually to protect bomber crews who have to bail out at extreme speed and altitude.

Chief Warrant Officer Edward Murray, 47, of Dayton, Ohio, underwent a similar test last Feb. 28, but his capsule was ejected at a much lower speed—565 miles an hour.

U.N. Rhodesian Debate Voted

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Steering Committee overrode Western opposition Friday and recommended that the General Assembly debate Asian-African charges that Britain wants to keep white minority rule in Southern Rhodesia.

By a vote of 9-7 with 5 abstentions the committee voted to add Southern Rhodesia to the agenda of the resumed assembly session, which is considering also the situation in Belgian-ruled Ruanda-Urundi.

Three Communist countries—the Soviet Union, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia—gave the Asian-African their victory margin. Voting no were the United States, Britain, France, Greece, Denmark, Italy and the Netherlands.

Girl Hailed As Heroine Tearfully Admits Hoax

LONDON (AP)—Police and parents Friday pieced together the sad but charming drama of a 10-year-old girl, hailed for six months as a local heroine.

Since last January, just about everyone in nearby Richmond believed Tina Stapley had rescued her schoolmate, Paula Thomas, from drowning in the River Thames.

Thursday was to be Tina's big day. Officials of the Royal Humane Society were to present tiny Tina their coveted award for bravery. The 240 pupils of Orchard County Primary School were ready to applaud.

But, six hours before hand, Tina disappeared.

Paula vanished, too. On her dressing table, Tina's mother, found a note:

It was the second attempt the group had made in a week to escape. A previous attempt on another river excursion boat had been abandoned when a passing barge blocked the way into the Landwehr Canal in Western territory at the critical moment.

Thursday night Lindner and the steward, Dieter, who wants to keep his last name secret, decided to make another try.

The Friedrich Wolf, named for a Communist poet, was being overhauled at Treptow pier on the Spree in readiness for the opening of the river boat season this week.

Two mechanics came to work on the vessel. They asked where the Western border was and were told it was only two miles downstream.

"We immediately thought they wanted to flee, but they could have been plants by the police," Lindner said. "Boldly, fully realizing that our fate hinged on the reliability of the two, I filled them in on our plan. They joined the plot."

The presence of the two visiting mechanics provided an excuse for a drinking party with the captain and engineer, both loyal Communists.

The plotters poured most of four bottles of brandy, a bottle of wine and 12 pints of beer into the captain and engineer, but only pretended to drink themselves.

The intoxicated pair were then locked in their cabins. The other men and the women came aboard at 4:30 a.m. The bridge was fortified with steel plates, two experienced helmsmen took the wheel and the 725-passenger boat cast off.

The captain began to waken and make noises, but some of the men went in and gave him a knock on the head.

As the boat sailed down the stream in early morning light it was challenged by an East German police boat. But the hijackers had a story ready.

The helmsmen explained they were bound for Osthafen, just opposite the American sector, to pick up new generators.

Probe Into Military Muzzling Charges Ends With Clashes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A nearly nine-month-long probe into allegations that the Pentagon had muzzled military men ended Friday with sharp exchanges between Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., and Pentagon information chief Arthur Sylvester.

Thurmond told Sylvester he had been "taken in" by antimilitary propaganda.

Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, replied softly, but his face flushed, that this was a "gratuitous insult." He told Thurmond: "I see no ground for your comment."

The first preliminary hearings were held last September after Thurmond pressed charges that the Defense Department was preventing military men from speaking out against communism to conform with what he called a "no-win" foreign policy.

Full hearings before a special Senate Armed Services subcommittee opened last Jan. 23.

Friday's was the 36th session and brought the number of words in the record to more than 1.5 million.

Among the long parade of witnesses, few testified that they were muzzled, but there were criticisms of the Pentagon's speech-censorship and troop-instruction programs. Some generals and admirals said they were puzzled by some changes in their speeches.

Thurmond did far more of the questioning of the witnesses than any other subcommittee member. An aide said after the windup he expects no more public hearings.

There was no indication when the subcommittee might make its report.

The subcommittee still is to receive a detailed statement by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on the questions raised in the investigation. The secretary made only one brief appearance before the subcommittee.

Missionary Says Migration Asia Key Word

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—A Methodist missionary who served seven years in China and 10 years in Malaya says migration is the key word in Asia today.

The missionary, Dr. Harry Haines, watched refugees from Communist China brought across the border in truckloads when he was in Hong Kong last week. Friday, he told a conference of the Methodist Church.

"In this moment of history in Asia, there is one word which characterizes what is taking place. That word is migration. There is migration from colonialism, from exploitation, from misery and from poverty.

"The western world today is morbidly preoccupied with its own guilt over the church's identification with its culture. There are prophetic voices saying that western civilization has been weighed and found wanting.

"Yet, we know the task of the church is unchanged. The church is set in the world to witness to the saving power of God. We sometimes speak of the church's loss of the sense of mission. To recover our mission, we must understand the faith that gave it birth."

Dr. Haines, a native of New Zealand, returned last Saturday from a world tour on behalf of the World Council of Churches. He will leave the United States soon to join the faculty of the University of Soe Chow on Formosa.

Dr. Haines is a graduate of Wesley Theological Seminary, now in Washington, D.C., and of Western Maryland College in Westminster, where the Baltimore annual conference of the Methodist Church is now going on.

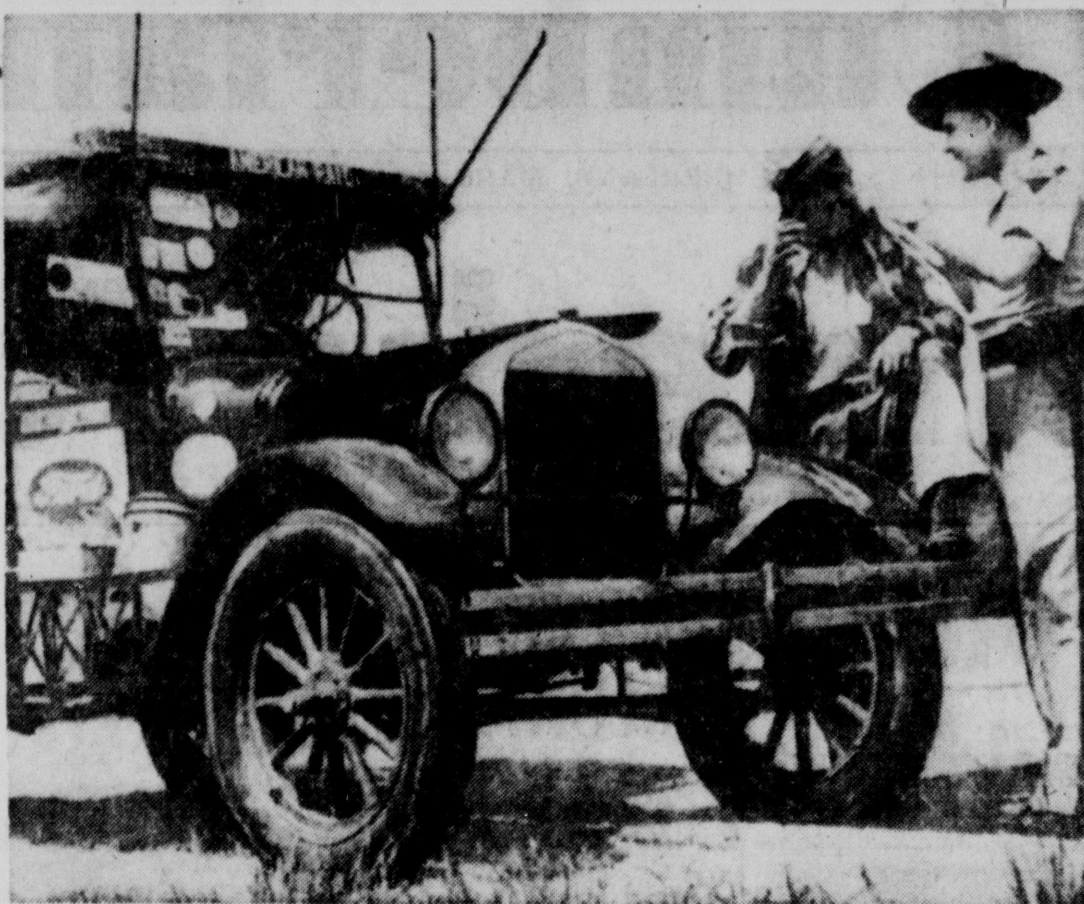

There are 760 delegates — half of them ministers, the other half laymen — attending the five-day meeting which closes Sunday. The conference embraces Maryland, the District of Columbia and West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle.

Grady Inks Baltimore Accommodations Bill

BALTIMORE (AP)—Enforcement of Maryland's trespass law because of race became null and void in Baltimore City Friday. Mayor J. Harold Grady signed a public accommodations measure.

Restaurant operators, who once had the courts to back them in enforcing segregation, are now subject to a court order if they refuse service to anyone on account of race, color or creed.

The only exceptions are in establishments which sell more alcoholic beverages than food. Proponents of the public accommodations measure had fought the provision on alcoholic beverage sales, but finally accepted it as the price of passage when City Council approved the bill Monday by a 13-7 vote.

MINIMUM OVER HIS MAXIMUM — Unable to speak Spanish, Indiana State Trooper Michael Rasbetta has a difficult time explaining to Felix Ocana, of Pasto, Colombia, that the minimum speed of the Indiana toll road is 40 miles per hour. Ocana's Model T just won't go that fast, so he'll continue his trip to Ottawa, Canada, by roads that do not have minimum speed rules. Ocana started his journey towards Ottawa from Ecuador in May, 1960, in the vintage car he rebuilt and has repaired many times during his long odyssey. (AP Photofax)

Freedom Ride Set For Today

BALTIMORE (AP)—Campaigning integrationists will leave Baltimore and New York simultaneously Saturday and meet later in the day at the crossroads of racial problems and diplomatic difficulties — U.S. 40.

The campaign to establish equal service at U.S. 40 restaurants in Maryland and Delaware comes on the heels of new complaints from African diplomats who said they were turned away at motels and eating places on the major Washington to New York route.

The freedom ride is being sponsored by the Baltimore chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE). The Baltimore chairman of CORE, Walter Carter, said Friday that integration of eating facilities is the only answer to the complaints from out-of-state Negroes and African diplomats who have been rebuffed by U.S. 40 restaurant owners.

Carter said a group of demonstrators would leave New York travelling south and another group would leave Baltimore travelling north on U.S. 40. He said the groups will hold a rally at 6 p.m. at the Union Methodist Church at Aberdeen, about halfway between Baltimore and the Delaware state line.

Bandit Changes Mind

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Police were searching Friday for a would-be robber who entered the Community Finance Service, a loan company, demanded $4,000 and fled without obtaining the money.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Board of Health and Mental Hygiene has given tentative approval to a five-year, $31.8 million improvement plan for Maryland mental institutions.

The plan would require the state legislature's approval of an initial $3.7 million appropriation. The program, still the talking stage, calls for improvement of old and construction of new mental facilities.

The program emphasizes the establishment of smaller institutions with closer community contacts and continued treatment for discharged patients.

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Mirror, mirror, tell me true: Who set the fire was it you?

Towson firemen are asking that question after a fire mysteriously broke out in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stiever Thursday.

The only possible cause, the firemen decided, was that rays from the sun struck the mirror, reflecting them onto a bed. They said no one had been in the suburban Baltimore home for eight hours prior to the blaze.

The fire was confined to a bedroom on the second floor.

N.Y. Industrialist Critically Burned

EASTON, Md. (AP)—Harry Joseph Curtis, 58-year-old New York industrialist, was severely burned last Sunday during a cook-out on his estate on Maryland's Eastern Shore.

Curtis' personal physician suffered Friday that Curtis suffered second and third-degree burns over 40 per cent of his body when gasoline was poured on a fire and it exploded.

Memorial Hospital in Easton said his condition was critical. The accident happened while Curtis and his wife, Mary, were entertaining friends on their $45,000, six-acre estate overlooking the Tred Avon River about one mile south of Bellevue, Md.

Curtis was engulfed in flames when the gasoline was put on the fire because it was burning low. Curtis is a consultant for the Frederick H. Levey Co. Inc. of New York, manufacturers of printing ink. He has been with the company since 1930 and was vice president of sales until his semi-retirement.

Counterfeit Bill Passer Arrested

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Hagerstown police arrested a 45-year-old Raleigh, N.C., man Friday after merchants complained of receiving counterfeit $20 bills.

Detective Lt. Grayson Wigfield said Roy Ellis Stahl admitted having passed 15 of the counterfeit bills since leaving Raleigh Thursday. Eight of the $20 bills turned up in Hagerstown.

Wigfield said police found $8,840 in counterfeit in a car which the detective said Stahl had been driving.

Cop Given 3-Year Term For Bribery

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Baltimore policeman convicted earlier this week on a bribery charge was sentenced to three years in the Maryland Penitentiary Friday.

Judge Michael J. Manley imposed the sentence in Criminal Court on Raymond Mooney, 43, a member of the force for about nine years.

Mooney was accused of taking $90 in marked money from a motorist involved in an accident with a parked car. He pleaded innocent to the charges.

32 Pacifists Carried From Court, Arrested

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A federal judge Friday sentenced three men to 30 days in jail for attempting to sail into the Pacific nuclear test zone and U.S. marshals forcibly cleared the court building of sympathizers who have been conducting a week-long demonstration and fast.

Twenty-seven men and five women were arrested after returning to the building after they were carried out on stretchers to accompaniment of guitar music and songs such as "We Shall Live in Peace, We Are Not Afraid."

There was no violence. The demonstrators achieved their avowed aim of being placed under arrest to dramatize their protest. But it was a tough workout for deputy marshals and guards who hauled them out, some for the second time.

There were about 60 demonstrators in the building. U.S. Atty. Cecil Poole instructed U.S. marshal Edward A. Heslep to evict them.

Some left on their own, but about 40 including five young women were carried out on

Operation Loud Ring Thwarted

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—About 100 members of the junior class of North Hagerstown High School planned to celebrate the end of their last day of school Friday with a loud ring — but the plan didn't work.

They had taken clocks to school, set their alarms for 9:30, and deftly placed them in their lockers.

But someone squealed and teachers confiscated the clocks. Herbert Logsdon, principal, said only parents of the students may claim them.

Probe Into Military Muzzling Charges Ends With Clashes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A nearly nine-month-long probe into allegations that the Pentagon had muzzled military men ended Friday with sharp exchanges between Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., and Pentagon information chief Arthur Sylvester.

Thurmond told Sylvester he had been "taken in" by antimilitary propaganda.

Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, replied softly, but his face flushed, that this was a "gratuitous insult." He told Thurmond: "I see no ground for your comment."

The first preliminary hearings were held last September after Thurmond pressed charges that the Defense Department was preventing military men from speaking out against communism to conform with what he called a "no-win" foreign policy.

Full hearings before a special Senate Armed Services subcommittee opened last Jan. 23.

Friday's was the 36th session and brought the number of words in the record to more than 1.5 million.

Among the long parade of witnesses, few testified that they were muzzled, but there were criticisms of the Pentagon's speech-censorship and troop-instruction programs. Some generals and admirals said they were puzzled by some changes in their speeches.

Thurmond did far more of the questioning of the witnesses than any other subcommittee member. An aide said after the windup he expects no more public hearings.

There was no indication when the subcommittee might make its report.

The subcommittee still is to receive a detailed statement by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on the questions raised in the investigation. The secretary made only one brief appearance before the subcommittee.

Several ABL Employees Take Part In Missile Seminar

Approximately 12 scientists and engineers from Allegany Ballistics Laboratory participated in a Solid Propellant Group seminar this week in Pittsburgh.

The seminar, sponsored by the Naval Bureau of Weapons, was keynoted by Rear Admiral K. S. Masterson, deputy chief of staff of BuWep, who pointed out that one challenging characteristic that will be a requirement of all Navy missile propulsion programs in the future is the limitation of weight and space.

ABL's contribution to the seminar included five papers on various aspects of missile work. Four basic precepts that scientists and engineers should follow were stressed by Admiral Masterson. They were simplicity, cost reduction, timeliness and judgment.

Simplicity, he pointed out is a "must" since an engineer cannot take pride in a product which will be "plagued by his failure to anticipate the realities of the production line." Timeliness also is essential, the admiral said, since there is no advantage in developing a piece of equipment that is obsolete or not economically producible when completed.

Admiral Masterson urged that serious thought be given to means of reducing what he termed "the staggering cost of our weapons," and stressed the need and importance of "early introduction of sound engineering judgment" in development programs.

The Navy this summer will begin flight-testing the Polaris A-3, a solid-propellant missile with a range of 2,500 nautical miles, according to Commander C. A. Zimmerman, of the Navy's Special Projects Office.

As of last April 1, five Polaris fleet ballistic missile firing submarines were operational and engaged in patrol. They carried 16 missiles each, putting a total of 80 ready-to-fire Polaris missiles at sea.

The five Polaris submarines at sea as of April 1 carried the Polaris A-1, a missile which is powered by solid fuel rocket motors and has a range of 1,200 nautical miles.

The operational stage of Polaris A-2, with a range of 1,500 nautical miles, is "imminent" according to Cmdr. Zimmerman.

The first A-2 test missile was launched from a submerged submarine, the USS Ethan Allen, off the Florida coast last October 23.

The Navy previously had announced that Polaris A-2 would become operational by mid-1962.

While the Navy will not comment officially, it is known that 17 out of the last 18 Polaris missile firings from submerged submarines have been successful.

Polaris, named for the North Star, is a two-stage ballistic missile powered by solid fuel rocket motors and guided by an inertial guidance system that is independent of external control.

The Polaris nuclear submarine gives the United States a powerful deterrent to any instigator of global war, Navy officials pointed out. It is capable of sustained, submerged operations and its cruising range is limited only by the endurance of the crew.

The missile itself can be launched within minutes after the command is given. It does not need a long countdown.

Each Polaris missile submarine is manned by two crews, a Blue and a Gold. They alternate on long patrols.

Participating in the seminar were the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the Advanced Research Projects Agency, Army Ordnance Office and the Space Systems Division of the Air Force's 6593rd Test Group.

County's Cash Position Reported

The county treasurer yesterday submitted a report to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners listing the cash position of the county.

On April 30 the county had a bank balance of $409,870.50 and during May receipts totaled $391,638.89. During May disbursements were $525,802.52 leaving a balance of $274,706.96.

In addition, the county has $600,000 in certificates of deposit in local banks. These are funds invested from tax monies received by the county.

College Offers Summer Course

Allegany Community College will offer a one-course summer school this year, according to Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, president. The course, second semester French, is being offered at regular tuition rates. Dr. Zimmer said, adding that classes will be held from 6:30 to 9:10 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays.

Registration will be held on the first day of the classes, Monday, June 18. George Hazen will be instructor for the course.

GETS DEGREE — William D. Naughton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Naughton, 815 Fayette Street, was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in finance at commencement exercises Monday at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa. While in college he was a member of the Finance Club and the Sales and Management Club.

U.S. Education Officials Will Visit College

Two officials of the United States Office of Education will be here next week to meet with the faculty and administration of Allegany Community College.

Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, college president, said the officials will review the operations of the college during the past year and discuss future plans and development. The meeting has been arranged as part of plans for the accreditation of Allegany Community College, Dr. Zimmer explained.

The USOF officials will be Dr. S. V. Martorana, chief of the State and Regional Organization of Higher Education, and Dr. John H. Russell, a specialist in junior college administration organization.

Both Dr. Martorana and Dr. Russell are well known in junior college work, according to Dr. Zimmer, who said the former was president of Flint (Mich.) Junior College and a specialist in junior college education with the U.S. Office of Education prior to assuming his present position.

Dr. Russell had extensive experience in junior college work in Colorado prior to joining the staff of the Office of Education. The two government officials will be here Thursday, according to Dr. Zimmer, who said they will meet with the full faculty for a critique of the operations during the past school year.

That evening, Dr. Martorana and Dr. Russell will confer with the college's Board of Trustees for a further review of the 1961-62 operations and anticipated expansion during the coming year.

In connection with the visit of the two officials, Dr. Zimmer said the college faculty will conduct a workshop Wednesday, Thursday and Friday on planning for the coming year and evaluation of the year completed.

Dr. Zimmer said the full faculty also will attend a workshop June 18-21 during the annual meeting of the Middle States Council of Junior Colleges at Bennett College, Millbrook, N. Y.

The council, he explained, is the unit of the Middle States Association charged with accreditation and laying groundwork for regional accreditation.

St. Luke's To Hold Daily Bible School

A Vacation Bible School will be held by St. Luke's Lutheran Church June 11-22 with daily classes 9-11:30 a. m. The main theme for the school will be "Knowing Jesus."

Children between the age of three years and high school are expected. Transportation will be provided by the church if the need arises.

During the second week of school a picnic is scheduled at Constitution Park. Again at the end of the classes a social program is planned for the students and their parents at 7:30 p. m. June 22 at the church.

Instructors for the school are: Nursery—Mrs. Leroy Avers, Mrs. William Seiler and Mrs. Janet Diehl; kindergarten—Mrs. Clifford Bennett, Mrs. Jack Means, Mrs. Charles Oglebay, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. David Johnson, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Robert Wright and Miss Joyce Mobus; primary department—Mrs. Lloyd Diehl, Mrs. Henry Kirk, Mrs. Charles Hartung and Mrs. Francis Haselburger; junior—Mrs. Louis Hoffman, Mrs. William Kniseley, Mrs. Frank Foster, Mrs. Carl Hyde, Mrs. C. A. Nave, Mrs. Roy Yutz, Mrs. Douglas May and Mrs. Alfred Crabtree, and the junior senior high school teachers are Mrs. Norwood Ziegler, Mrs. William Brotemarkle and Mrs. Julian Baker.

Refreshments will be supervised by Mrs. C. F. Thuss, Mrs. Josie Hartung and Mrs. Frank Young Sr.

The staff for the school includes Mrs. John Oglebay, directress; Pastor Naugle, resource leader, and Mrs. William Lawyer, music director.

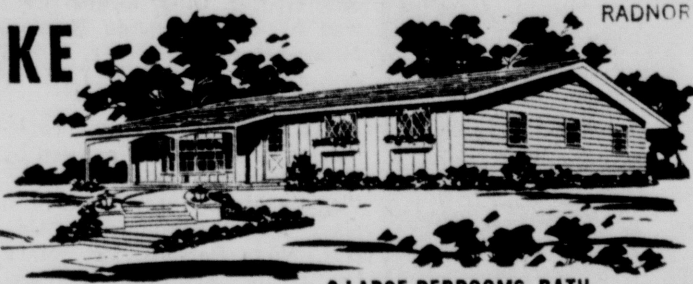

Great Britain's population has increased more than four and one-half million in the past 25 years.

Several ABL Employees Take Part In Missile Seminar

Approximately 12 scientists and engineers from Allegany Ballistics Laboratory participated in a Solid Propellant Group seminar this week in Pittsburgh.

The seminar, sponsored by the Naval Bureau of Weapons, was keynoted by Rear Admiral K. S. Masterson, deputy chief of staff of BuWep, who pointed out that one challenging characteristic of that will be a requirement of all Navy missile propulsion programs in the future is the limitation of weight and space.

ABL's contribution to the seminar included five papers on various aspects of missile work.

Four basic precepts that scientists and engineers should follow were stressed by Admiral Masterson. They were simplicity, cost reduction, timeliness and judgment.

Simplicity, he pointed out is a "must" since an engineer cannot take pride in a product which will be "plagued by his failure to anticipate the realities of the production line." Timeliness also is essential, the admiral said, since there is no advantage in developing a piece of equipment that is obsolete or not economically producible when completed.

Admiral Masterson urged that serious thought be given to means of reducing what he termed "the staggering cost of our weapons," and stressed the need and importance of "early introduction of sound engineering judgment" in development programs.

The Navy this summer will begin flight-testing the Polaris A-3, a solid-propellant missile with a range of 2,500 nautical miles, according to Commander C. A. Zimmerman, of the Navy's Special Projects Office.

As of last April 1, five Polaris fleet ballistic missile firing submarines were operational and engaged in patrol. They carried 16 missiles each, putting a total of 80 ready-to-fire Polaris missiles at sea.

The five Polaris submarines at sea as of April 1 carried the Polaris A-1, a missile which is powered by solid fuel rocket motors and has a range of 1,200 nautical miles.

The operational stage of Polaris A-2, with a range of 1,500 nautical miles, is "imminent" according to Cmdr. Zimmerman.

The first A-2 test missile was launched from a submerged submarine, the USS Ethan Allen, off the Florida coast last October 23. The Navy previously had announced that Polaris A-2 would become operational by mid-1962.

While the Navy will not comment officially, it is known that 17 out of the last 18 Polaris missile firings from submerged submarines have been successful.

Polaris, named for the North Star, is a two-stage ballistic missile powered by solid fuel rocket motors and guided by an inertial guidance system that is independent of external control.

The Polaris nuclear submarine gives the United States a powerful deterrent to any instigator of global war, Navy officials pointed out. It is capable of sustained, submerged operations and its cruising range is limited only by the endurance of the crew.

The missile itself can be launched within minutes after the command is given. It does not need a long countdown.

Each Polaris missile submarine is manned by two crews, a Blue and a Gold. They alternate on long patrols.

Participating in the seminar were the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the Advanced Research Projects Agency, Army Ordnance Office and the Space Systems Division of the Air Force's 6593rd Test Group.

County's Cash Position Reported

The county treasurer yesterday submitted a report to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners listing the cash position of the county.

On April 30 the county had a bank balance of $409,870.50 and during May receipts totaled $391,638.89. During May disbursements were $525,802.52 leaving a balance of $274,706.86.

In addition, the county has $600,000 in certificates of deposit in local banks. These are funds invested from tax monies received by the county.

College Offers Summer Course

Allegany Community College will offer a one-course summer school this year, according to Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, president.

The course, second semester French, is being offered at regular tuition rates, Dr. Zimmer said, adding that classes will be held from 6:30 to 9:10 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays.

Registration will be held on the first day of the classes, Monday, June 18. George Hazen will be instructor for the course.

GETS DEGREE — William D. Naughton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Naughton, 815 Fayette Street, was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in finance at commencement exercises Monday at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa. While in college he was a member of the Finance Club and the Sales and Management Club.

U.S. Education Officials Will Visit College

Two officials of the United States Office of Education will be here next week to meet with the faculty and administration of Allegany Community College.

Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, college president, said the officials will review the operations of the college during the past year and discuss future plans and development. The meeting has been arranged as part of plans for the accreditation of Allegany Community College, Dr. Zimmer explained.

The USOF officials will be Dr. S. V. Martorana, chief of the State and Regional Organization of Higher Education, and Dr. John H. Russell, a specialist in junior college administration organization.

Both Dr. Martorana and Dr. Russell are well known in junior college work, according to Dr. Zimmer, who said the former was president of Flint (Mich.) Junior College and a specialist in junior college education with the U.S. Office of Education prior to assuming his present position.

Dr. Russell had extensive experience in junior college work in Colorado prior to joining the staff of the Office of Education.

The two government officials will be here Thursday, according to Dr. Zimmer, who said they will meet with the full faculty for a critique of the operations during the past school year.

That evening, Dr. Martorana and Dr. Russell will confer with the college's Board of Trustees for a further review of the 1961-62 operations and anticipated expansion during the coming year.

In connection with the visit of the two officials, Dr. Zimmer said the college faculty will conduct a workshop Wednesday, Thursday and Friday on planning for the coming year and evaluation of the year completed.

Dr. Zimmer said the full faculty also will attend a workshop June 18-21 during the annual meeting of the Middle States Council of Junior Colleges at Bennett College, Millbrook, N. Y.

The council, he explained, is the unit of the Middle States Association charged with accreditation and laying groundwork for regional accreditation.

Variety Show Is Planned

The Jean Rowland Circle of Melvin Methodist Church installed officers and planned activities at the meeting held Wednesday evening at the church.

Marvel Almond was elected president; Violet Wentling, Leora McClellan, vice presidents; Patricia Rudolph, secretary, and Norma Manges, treasurer.

Committees appointed were program, Barbara Perdew, Dolly Shipley, Elva Dom, Norman Manges, Juanita Barnes; and missions, Dorothy Streett and Marvel Almond.

It was decided to have another variety show. Shirley Wigfield and Betty Thomas were named chairmen. Plans were made for the next meeting, July 12, to be in the form of a wiener roast at the home of Elva Dom, Bedford Road. The group also will have a special service Father's Day in the church.

"Hands that Serve Us" was the topic of the program by Violet Wentling and Leora McClellan. Edith Riggelman and Dorothy Streett sang, "Invisible Hands." The circle received a picture from Dae Hee Park, Korean missionary.

One visitor, Rebecca Barnes and 20 members attended. Refreshments were served by Norma Manges, Ruby Robey and Barbara Perdew.

Old Furnace Bible School Next Week

"The Bible" will be the theme of the Bible school to be conducted by the Old Furnace Church of the Brethren, six miles south of Cumberland on West Virginia Route 28. Classes will begin Monday and continue through June 15. They will be from 9 until 11:30 a.m.

One class will be "The Three's at Vacation Church School" with Delena Malone, Shirley Malone and Linda Self in charge.

"We Have a Bible" will be the topic of the kindergarten class. Kathryn Moreland, Janice Leary, Doris Yankee and Patricia Shank will be in charge.

In the primary section, the class in charge of Hazel Liller and Leona Moreland will use the topic, "Our Bible."

Two other classes will use the same topic with the leaders being Mildred Smith, Arlene Self, Linda Lindner, Lucy Abe and Sharon Smith.

The junior section topic will be "Men Who Dared in the Bible Times," with classes in charge of Edith Ellifritz, Letha Self, Mary Alice McTaggart, Mildred Williams and Lola Brant.

In the junior high section the classes will be in charge of Rev. George H. Jeffrey, Betty Jeffrey and Leah Grapes. The topic is "Book of the Ages."

The reunion is to be held June 30 at the Ali Ghan Country Club. It will begin with a dinner at 6, followed by dancing to music by the Townsman from 9 until 1.

A strawberry festival will be held by the MYF, at 5 tonight at Murley's Branch Methodist Church.

To Mark Anniversary
The 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. James Wharton is to be celebrated at an open house tomorrow at their home, in Mount Savage. It is to be from 2 until 4 p.m. No formal invitations have been issued, but relatives and friends will be welcome.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Petal Hands For Garden Enthusiasts
You can be the most prodigious gardener, yet have exquisite hands if you own the right kind of work gloves.

The gloves I'm about to tell you how to make are about as different from the clumsy, cumbersome work-type that bruise seedlings as baby's breath is from a dahlia. Because they are made from light-weight leather (such as found in a discarded pair of chamois, or kid gloves), they fit like a second skin and can handle the most delicate transplant without inflicting harm.

What turns your old gloves into airy working wonders is peppered their topside (not the palms) with tiny perforations. You can do this neatly with an ice pick, awl or darning needle, a wooden spoon and a wooden clothes pin.

With this equipment assembled, heat the point of your punching instrument over an open flame. Insert wooden spoon into the body of the glove, stretching the upper part of the glove's hand tightly over it. Touch the hot point to the leather. Repeat until you have several dozen tiny perforations. Then insert the clothes pin and work on the upper side of the fingers. In a matter of moments you will achieve a hundred or more perfect apertures that will not stretch or close because the heat used for opening them seals their perimeters at the same time.

The next step is to proof the palms and undersides of the fingers against damp. You do this by applying two coats of reliable plastic spray, being sure to seal the seams thoroughly.

Your gloves are now ready for work. To give yourself a beauty treatment while you garden, be sure to slather your nails with cuticle oil and your hands with rich emollient just before you put your gloves on.

After gardening, remove your gloves and hang them to dry. Then brush off any dirt that clings to them. Gloves so prepared may also be washed. Between wearing, wrap them in foil or wax paper.

Horse Show Tomorrow

A horse show will be held tomorrow by the Allegany Saddle Club, but in case of rain it will be postponed until June 17. It will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jones Smoak, Baltimore Pike and Christie Road, beginning at 12:30 p.m.

The public is invited. There is no admission charge. There will be 13 classes, with members only participating. Ribbons will be awarded and a trophy given for the horse acquiring the most points. Lawrence Davis will be ring master, Jerry Matlock, announcer and Stanley Hanna, judge.

Youth Fellowship To Hold Service
Mapleside Methodist Church Fellowship will be in charge of the morning service Youth Sunday, June 10. Raymond Mull, student at Bob Jones University, will deliver the sermon. Other participants in the program will be Charles Buraw, invocation; Patricia Dentinger, Lord's Prayer; Barbara Linn, responsive reading; Frank Shircliff, Scripture; Randi Reynolds, morning prayer; William Dawson, Gary Rice, Lindsay Otto, and Ralph Miller, ushers. Other members of the youth group will present a choir special, "I Found the Answer."

A rummage sale will be held Tuesday at Centre Street Methodist Church, from 12:30 until 2 p.m.

Committees Announced, Convention Discussed

Committees for XI Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, were appointed by Miss Betty Rommelmeyer and the convention was discussed at the meeting held earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. Kathryn Greever, Valley View Drive, LaVale. The convention will be held in Washington July 6, 7 and 8 at the Shorham Hotel.

Several members plan to attend. Next year's committees are program, Mrs. LaVerne Hankins, chairman; Miss Ruth Barry, Miss Margaret Smith; social, Mrs. Shirley Schowengerdt; Mrs. Loretta Smith, Mrs. Catherine Sowers, Mrs. Virginia Griggs, Mrs. Patricia Buskey, ways and means, Mrs. Barbara Richardson, Mrs. Charlotte Northcraft, Mrs. Estalene Shanholtz, Mrs. Eleanor Dicken, Miss Shirley Collins; gifts and flowers, Mrs. Alpha Barb; telephone, Miss Collins; Mrs. Emma Burgh; year book, Mrs. Shanholtz; Mrs. Loretta Smith, Mrs. Phyllis Sterner; service, Mrs. Brugh, Miss LeAnnah Matthews; scrap book, Mrs. Mary Harrison and Mrs. Schowengerdt.

It was decided that the first meeting in September will be a dinner in conjunction with Omicron Chapter. The chapter also scheduled a social meeting, in the form of a picnic, with Omicron Chapter. It will be July 1. The auditing committee report was given and program books were distributed. The opening ritual was given and routine reports made.

Members attending were Mrs. Hankins, Miss Matthews, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Barb, Mrs. Brugh, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Griggs, Mrs. Schowengerdt and Miss Smith. Mrs. Catherine Sowers was a guest.

Nature Camp Opens Mon.
The Allegany County Branch of the Maryland Ornithological Society will sponsor a week of Nature Camp, with children from 30 of the Allegany county public schools attending. They range from fifth to ninth grade.

The camp will be held at Western Maryland 4-H Center, Pleasant Valley, beginning June 11 and lasting until June 16.

The week will be devoted to a study of the various phases of nature, birds, nests, mammals, marine life, trees and other plants, insects and reptiles. Also special studies on conservation of the natural resources, led by Martin Gordon, area soil conservationist.

Other activities include swimming, hiking, land sports and folk dancing. Buses will leave Monday from the old Cumberland Armory, on South Centre Street, at 1 p.m. and at 1:30 from Beall High School, Frostburg, to take the children to camp.

4-H Activities To Be Discussed
Summer activities for all 4-Hers will be discussed at the meeting of the 4-H Girls Trail, which will be held June 14. It will be at the extension office at 1:30 p.m.

Also to be discussed are the demonstration days, county dress revue and girls camp.

The Past President's Parley will meet Monday at the home of Mrs. Margaret Gaim, Columbia Avenue.

School, Frostburg, to take the children to camp.

Sport Club Will Hold Dinner-Theatre Party

Summer activities were discussed at the dinner meeting of the Woman's Sport Club, held Thursday evening at the Ali Ghan Country Club. A dinner and theatre party at Jennerstown was announced for August. The July 17 meeting will be at the Cumberland Country Club with Mrs. Bessie Hanks chairman, Miss Wanda Lee Hanks and Mrs. Sarah Kelley on her committee. The Bedford Springs Summer Playhouse was discussed and Mrs. Marjorie Kight reported the ways and means committee had made $231.60 for the year.

The June motif was carried out in the decorations, with roses and candles in a ceramic dish, made by Mrs. Dorothy George, centering the table. Natural flowers were used on the other tables. Leather address books, purse size first aid cases and milk glass ash trays were the favors.

Cards followed the dinner. Prizes in 500 were won by Mrs. Mary Ellen Serf, Miss Elizabeth Hoover and Mrs. Madelyn Rizer, and in bridge, Mrs. Helen Carroll, Mrs. Lillian Klavuhn and Mrs. Mildred George. First prize in each were cut glass candy dishes; second, a pair of bud vases and third, a pair of pitchers. Mrs. Marjorie Kight won the centerpiece, and Miss Mary Jo Schellhaus a pair of Gay Nineties ceramic plaques, also made by Mrs. George. Other awards were won by Miss Adelaide Hession, Miss Elizabeth Hoover, Carol Ann George and Mrs. LaVerne Tewell.

Mrs. Gladys Head was chairman of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Dorothy George and Mrs. Virginia Matt. Guests were Mrs. Mary Nolan, Birmingham, Ala., Mrs. Wilda Parsons, Mrs. Mary Lee Jacopi, Mrs. Rose Hay and Carol Lynn George. Other members attending were Mrs. Frances Aman, Mrs. Leona Bootman, Mrs. Julia Brant, Mrs. Martha Breig, Mrs. Frances Brown, Mrs. Emma Crawford, Mrs. Lona Daum, Mrs. Lucille Durrett, Mrs. Shirley Eisenberger, Mrs. Martha Gerkins, Mrs. Hanks, Miss Kelley, Miss Anna Lottig, Mrs. Martha McNeil, Mrs. Mary Miller, Miss Marguerite Mullan, Mrs. Nellie Nycum, Mrs. Mabel Pierce, Mrs. Margaret Pompei, Mrs. Edith Shanholtz, Mrs. Esther Stevens and Mrs. Mary Weimer.

Reports of the horse show are to be given at the business meeting of the Potomac Valley Riding Club, which will be held Sunday at 7:30 at the club house.

Members of the style body are reminded to attend the meeting to qualify for the workshop, which will be held June 24. It is to be at the Tri State Beauty Academy.

A program and memorial service will be held by the Rainbow Girls, Assembly 6, at its 13th anniversary celebration tonight. It will be at 7:30 at the temple. All are to wear evening gowns.

Plans for summer meetings and other activities are to be discussed.

Since the address of some of the members of the class are unknown, anyone who has not been contacted is asked to call Miss Joan MacDonald, PA 2-0234.

Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Martha Miller Strickland, 112 North Allegany Street, before July 15.

Patricia Golden Honored By Omicron Chapter, BSP

Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, discussed dates to hold several outings during the summer and entertained with a surprise, personal, bridal shower for Miss Patricia Golden, at the meeting earlier in the week at the home of Miss Patricia Emerick, Uhl Highway. Mrs. Sara Lindsay presided. Past committees were thanked for their work and cooperation.

The chapter completed the "yardstick" and achieved a three star rating. One of the outings during the summer is to be a picnic July 1. It will be at Minke's Cottage Inn, together with Xi Omicron. Later the chapter will hold a covered dish supper.

During the social hour, the shower was held for Miss Golden, fiancée of John A. Seaton. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Hugo Golden, Sr., 22 Marion Street. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Seaton, Dunbar, Pa.

A large pink umbrella was suspended above the shower gifts. Wedding bells and a wedding cake centered the refreshment table. The bride motif was repeated in the bells and white flowers used throughout the house.

Mrs. Golden was a guest. Others attending were Mrs. Francis Frank, Mrs. Virginia Dorn, Mrs. Virginia Miller, Mrs. Martha VanHorn, Miss Barbara Haan, Mrs. Elaine Pyle, Mrs. Virginia Shircliff, Mrs. Betty Adam, Miss Josephine Dorn, Mrs. Anna Kurtz and Mrs. Eve Slivak.

Mapleside School Opens Mon.

The vacation Bible school of Mapleside Methodist Church will open Monday and continue through June 15. It will be held each day from 9 o'clock until noon.

A closing program will be held Sunday morning at 9:30 a.m. The last session of the school is to be a picnic. It will be held in Constitution Park at the regular time. The school is for boys and girls of all ages.

The nursery department will be under the direction of Mrs. Mary Arnold, Mrs. Jean Hare and Jane Dyche; the kindergarten, Patricia Huffman, Mrs. Mary Davis and Paul Dicken; the primary, Mrs. Dorothy Evans and Cheryl Mull; the junior department, Mrs. Rosemary Conway, Mrs. Ruth Edwards, Carole Folk and Charles Burcaw; the youth department, Mrs. Florine Taylor, Mrs. Glendora Poland and Mrs. Frances Seibert.

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Hazel Oster, Mrs. Sarah Davis, Mrs. Rose Rice, Mrs. Mary Taylor, Mrs. Annis Ellis and Mrs. Aline Burcaw.

Mrs. Emma Collins is director for the school, assisted by Mrs. Jean Dicken, Jane Dyche will be secretary and Randi Reynolds pianist.

Arizona is known as the "Grand Canyon State."

Variety Show Is Planned

The Jean Rowland Circle of Melvin Methodist Church installed officers and planned activities at the meeting held Wednesday evening at the church.

Marvel Almond was elected president; Violet Wentling, Leora McClellan, vice presidents; Patricia Rudolph, secretary, and Norma Manges, treasurer.

Committees appointed were program, Barbara Perdew, Dolly Shipley, Elva Dom, Norman Manges, Juanita Barnes; and missions, Dorothy Streett and Marvel Almond.

It was decided to have another variety show. Shirley Wigfield and Betty Thomas were named chairmen. Plans were made for the next meeting, July 12, to be in the form of a wiener roast at the home of Elva Dom, Bedford Road. The group also will have a special service Father's Day in the church.

"Hands that Serve Us" was the topic of the program by Violet Wentling and Leota McClellan. Edith Riggelman and Dorothy Streett sang, "Invisible Hands." The circle received a picture from Dae Hee Park, Korean missionary.

One visitor, Rebecca Barnes and 20 members attended. Refreshments were served by Norma Manges, Ruby Robey and Barbara Perdew.

Old Furnace Bible School Next Week

"The Bible" will be the theme of the Bible school to be conducted by the Old Furnace Church of the Brethren, six miles south of Cumberland on West Virginia Route 28. Classes will begin Monday and continue through June 15. They will be from 9 until 11:30 a.m.

One class will be "The Three's at Vacation Church School" with Delena Malone, Shirley Malone and Linda Self in charge.

"We Have a Bible" will be the topic of the kindergarten class. Kathryn Moreland, Janice Leary, Doris Yankee and Patricia Shank will be in charge.

In the primary section, the class in charge of Hazel Liller and Leona Moreland will use the topic, "Our Bible."

Two other classes will use the same topic with the leaders being Mildred Smith, Arlene Self, Linda Lindner, Lucy Abe and Sharon Smith.

The junior section topic will be "Men Who Dared in the Bible Times," with classes in charge of Edith Ellifritz, Letha Self, Mary Alice McTaggart, Mildred Williams and Lola Brant.

In the junior high section the classes will be in charge of Rev. George H. Jeffrey, Betty Jeffrey and Leah Grapes. The topic is "Book of the Ages."

Irene Moreland will be music leader for the school; Claudine Manning, secretary; Nancy Manning, assistant; Grace Self, director; Linda Weaver and Ruth Delozier, recreation committee; Arawana Conner, Ann Hartman and Eva Brown, refreshment committee.

To Mark Anniversary

The 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. James Wharton is to be celebrated at an open house tomorrow at their home, in Mount Savage. It is to be from 2 until 4 p.m. No formal invitations have been issued, but relatives and friends will be welcome.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Petal Hands For Garden Enthusiasts

You can be the most prodigious gardener, yet have exquisite pair of chamois, or kid gloves, hands if you own the right kind of work gloves.

The gloves I'm about to tell you how to make are about as different from the clumsy, cumbersome work-type that bruise seedlings as baby's breath is from a dahlia. Because they are made from light-weight leather

Nature Camp Opens Mon.

The Allegany County Branch of the Maryland Ornithological Society will sponsor a week of Nature Camp, with children from 30 of the Allegany county public schools attending. They range from fifth to ninth grade.

The camp will be held at Western Maryland 4-H Center, Pleasant Valley, beginning June 11 and lasting until June 16.

The week will be devoted to a study of the various phases of nature, birds, nests, mammals, marine life, trees and other plants, insects and reptiles. Also special studies on conservation of the natural resources, led by Martin Gordon, area soil conservationist.

Other activities include swimming, hiking, land sports and folk dancing.

Buses will leave Monday from the old Cumberland Armory, on South Centre Street, at 1 p.m. and at 1:30 from Beall High School.

4-H Activities

To Be Discussed

Summer activities for all 4-Hers will be discussed at the meeting of the 4-H Girls Trail, which will be held June 14. It will be at the extension office at 1:30 p.m.

Also to be discussed are the demonstration days, county dress revue and girls camp.

The Past President's Parley will meet Monday at the home of Mrs. Margaret Graim, Columbia Avenue.

School, Frostburg, to take the children to camp.

Sport Club Will Hold Dinner-Theatre Party

Summer activities were discussed at the dinner meeting of the Woman's Sport Club, held Thursday evening at the Ali Ghan Country Club. A dinner and theatre party at Jennerstown was announced for August. The July 17 meeting will be at the Cumberland Country Club with Mrs. Bessie Hanks chairman, Miss Wanda Lee Hanks and Mrs. Sarah Kelley on her committee. The Bedford Springs Summer Playhouse was discussed and Mrs. Marjorie Kight reported the ways and means committee had made $231.60 for the year.

The June motif was carried out in the decorations, with roses and candles in a ceramic dish, made by Mrs. Dorothy George, centering the table. Natural flowers were used on the other tables. Leather address books, purse size first aid cases and milk glass ash trays were the favors.

Cards followed the dinner. Prizes in 500 were won by Mrs. Mary Ellen Serf, Miss Elizabeth Hoover and Mrs. Madelyn Rizer, and in bridge, Mrs. Helen Carroll, Mrs. Lillian Klavuhn and Mrs. Mildred George. First prize in each were cut glass candy dishes; second, a pair of bud vases and third, a pair of pitchers. Mrs. Marjorie Kight won the centerpiece, and Miss Mary Jo Schellhaus a pair of Gay Nineties ceramic plaques, also made by Mrs. George. Other awards were won by Miss Adelaide Hession, Miss Elizabeth Hoover, Carol Ann George and Mrs. LaVerne Tewell.

Mrs. Gladys Head was chairman of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Dorothy George and Mrs. Virginia Matt. Guests were Mrs. Mary Nolan, Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. Wilda Parsons, Mrs. Mary Lee Jacopi, Mrs. Rose Hay and Carol Lynn George. Other members attending were Mrs. Frances Aman, Mrs. Leona Bootman, Mrs. Julia Brant, Mrs. Martha Breig, Mrs. Frances Brown, Mrs. Emma Crawford, Mrs. Lona Daum, Mrs. Lucille Durrett, Mrs. Shirley Eisenberger, Mrs. Martha Gerkins, Mrs. Hanks, Miss Hanks, Mrs. Marian Hubbs, Mrs. Kelley, Miss Anna Lotig, Mrs. Martha McNeil, Mrs. Mary Miller, Miss Marguerite Mullan, Mrs. Nellie Nycum, Mrs. Mabel Pierce, Mrs. Margaret Pompei, Mrs. Edith Shanholzer, Mrs. Esther Stevens and Mrs. Mary Weimer.

Reports of the horse show are to be given at the business meeting of the Potomac Valley Riding Club, which will be held Sunday at 7:30 at the club house.

A program and memorial service will be held by the Rainbow Girls, Assembly 6, at its 13th anniversary celebration tonight. It will be at 7:30 at the temple. All are to wear evening gowns.

Members of the style body are reminded to attend the meeting to qualify for the workshop, which will be held June 24. It is to be at the Tri State Beauty Academy.

June Bride

In a moment, the organist will strike a chord. There will be a sudden hush in the church, then the strains of the wedding march will peal forth and she will take her father's arm and start up the aisle, her measured steps symbolic of the very real hesitation she will be feeling.

She would not be human if she did not hesitate. These steps she is about to take are the most important steps of her life. She is poised on the threshold of another existence in which the pronoun she uses will be "We" and not "I." Soon she will learn to think of another before she thinks of herself. Presently, she will come to know fully the meaning of the word "share."

As she moves forward, she falters for just a second. Then her step becomes sure, her lips curve in a smile. The church through which she walks is dear and beloved to her—and so is the man who stands waiting for her beside the altar. Her marriage, blessed by faith, is beginning where all marriages should begin—in the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

In a moment, the organist will strike a chord. There will be a sudden hush in the church, then the strains of the wedding march will peal forth and she will take her father's arm and start up the aisle, her measured steps symbolic of the very real hesitation she will be feeling.

She would not be human if she did not hesitate. These steps she is about to take are the most important steps of her life. She is poised on the threshold of another existence in which the pronoun she uses will be "We" and not "I." Soon she will learn to think of another before she thinks of herself. Presently, she will come to know fully the meaning of the word "share."

As she moves forward, she falters for just a second. Then her step becomes sure, her lips curve in a smile. The church through which she walks is dear and beloved to her—and so is the man who stands waiting for her beside the altar. Her marriage, blessed by faith, is beginning where all marriages should begin—in the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a shrine of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Testimonial Dinner Groups Meet Thursday

The steering committee of Fort Hill-Penna. Avenue Alumni Association met Thursday at Ft. Hill High School to further plans for a testimonial dinner honoring Victor D. Heisey, who will retire as principal this month.

The dinner will be June 27 at Shrine Country Club. Graduates have been contacted by letter and members may call Mrs. Mary Payne Courtney, 519 Prince George Street, 724-0338, or Mrs. Sadie MacIntosh Koser, Bedford Road, 724-7416 to place reservations.

The school office will be open from 9 until 4 p. m. weekdays and tickets may also be purchased there from Mrs. Kitty Pafel Wilson.

Raymond W. Hahne will be master of ceremonies for the dinner and William C. Lewis is in charge of art work.

The program and steering committees will hold a combined meeting Thursday in Room 115 at Fort Hill High School.

Walter "Bookie" Henry is chairman of the steering committee, and Delbert Proudfoot is president of the alumni association.

Larcenies Reported To Police

Five larcenies in Cumberland during the past two days have been reported to local police.

City Police Detective Captain James E. Van said Stewart W. Laidlow of Martinsburg, W. Va., complained yesterday that someone took a wallet from the glove compartment of his parked car while he was using a telephone at the Queen City station.

Although the wallet contained no money, the culprit got credit cards, operator's license etc. from Laidlow's wallet.

Four larcenies were reported on Thursday, according to Capt. Van, who said Melvin McDonald, 608 Elmwood Street, reported someone took an electric hedge clipper valued at $45 from his basement.

Robert Crawford, of RD 4, city, said someone took a pocket size transistor radio valued at $20 from his car which was parked on Frederick Street.

Joseph Bedinger, 120 Columbia Street, said an aluminum porch table valued at $5 was taken from his front porch during the night.

Festival Today

St. Luke's Lutheran Church will hold its annual strawberry festival today at 5:30 p. m.

Officers of the church said plate lunches also will be available.

The discovery of champagne is usually credited to Dom Perignon, cellar master of the abbey of Hautvillers in France from 1670 to 1715.

City Firefighters Get Three Calls

City firemen had three calls yesterday including a smoke scare reported early in the morning.

The occupant of 209 Carroll Street thought there was something on fire on the premises at 3:34 a. m. but firemen from West Side station learned it was a smoke scare.

No sooner had the firemen tapped in at the station than firemen from South End station received a call to Avondale Avenue, where a rubbish fire was extinguished.

At 5:40 p. m. yesterday, West Side was out again, checking a call at Patterson Avenue near James Street, where a man with a permit was burning brush.

Granted Leave

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday granted Howard M. Bender, an employee in the County Roads Department, leave of absence for military duty.

A member of Company C, Medium Tank Battalion of the 115th Armored of the National Guard, he will be on training June 30 through July 14.

Escapees Sentenced In Garrett

Sentences in the Maryland Reformatory for Males were handed today to two youths who escaped from the State Forestry Camp near Lonaconing and stole an auto.

Terms of not more than two years were given Daniel Allen Frank and William Lee Durbin when they were tried by Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill in Garrett County Circuit Court, Oakland, Wednesday.

They pleaded guilty to charges of escaping from the forestry camp and to stealing a car belonging to Lorraine Blair Wiley, Grantsville.

The two-year terms given on each charge are to run concurrently, the judge ruled.

Judge Hamill also disposed of several other criminal cases.

Two of those involved were the two who stole J. Edward Helbig's Buick automobile from in front of Hinebaugh's Restaurant in Oakland about two weeks ago.

They were Chester Ernest Haddix and Roger Dale Jewell. Both entered pleas of guilty to the charge but sentencing was deferred. The automobile was recovered in Ohio and West Virginia authorities picked up the two on charges in that state.

John Bernard Townsend, 33, of Bayard, W. Va., entered a plea of guilty to a charge of breaking and entering the dwelling of John Kitzmiller of near Gorman, and taking several rifles. He was sentenced to serve 18 months in the House of Correction but the sentence was suspended for a period of two years. He was placed under supervision of the parole and probation officer.

Richard Dale Paugh, Kitzmiller, pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering the home of Hazel Rafter Henry, Kitzmiller, and stealing silver dollars, antique coins, rings and clothing. He was sentenced to three years in the House of Correction and request made that he be transferred to Patuxent Institution for psychiatric examination.

Barry Edward Davis pleaded guilty to escape from the Meadow Mountain forestry camp and was sentenced to the Reformatory for Males for a period not exceeding two years. Sentence was suspended upon condition he return to the camp. He was placed under supervision of the parole officer.

PSC Orders B&O To Restore Flagmen

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Public Service Commission ordered the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Friday to restore flagmen to passenger trains.

The railroad eliminated the job of flagman last month and created a new position — brakeman-baggage man — to perform the duties.

The commission, in a unanimous decision, said the dropping of flagmen "increased unreasonably the element of hazard and risk to the life and security of passengers."

Court Orders

He said his decision would probably come by Wednesday.

Asked if he would request further arguments on the constitutional makeup of the Senate, Judge Duckett said: "I don't think so. But if either side makes such a request, I will grant it."

Alfred L. Scanlan, an attorney for the Fair Representation Committee, greeted the high court's order with optimism.

"It shows that the Court of Appeals wants to resolve the problem before the November 1962 elections," he said.

Naval Unit To Hold Drive

Two recruiters have been appointed to coordinate the activity for Mobilization Team 5-2, according to Cmdr. C. H. Vossler, commanding officer of the unit, who said the appointments were made in response to an all-out recruiting drive by local Naval Reserve divisions.

Cmdr. D. D. Brown was selected as recruiting officer, and PM 2/c Jimmie D. Flanagan as unit recruiter. The recruiters said Mobilization Team 5-2 has openings for enlisted personnel in the following ratings:

Personnelman, yeoman, radio-man, disbursing clerk and medical and dental ratings. An officer vacancy also exists.

Mob Team 5-2, it was explained, is trained to mobilize area Naval Reserve personnel in the event of a national emergency. Personnel from Keyser, the Tri-Towns, Paw Paw and Ridgeley, as well as Cumberland, attend training sessions each Thursday evening at the Naval Reserve Training Center here.

For information on the recruiting drive, Cmdr. Brown can be contacted at 722-1737, and PM 2/c Flanagan at 724-1040.

Information also can be obtained by contacting Lt. M. J. Gallo, commanding officer of the Training Center, and his staff at 722-0970.

Lt. Gallo said there are vacancies at the Training Center for qualified females and that qualified secretaries can enlist in the Navy's direct rating program.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to say a word to "Wee But Mighty"—the short lady who is sick and tired of hearing uncouth and thoughtless digs about her size.

I'm a woman 6 feet tall in my nyons and I'd gladly change places with her. I've always been tall, even as a youngster, and I can't recall a single unkind remark from a woman. It's the men I'd like to strangle. Usually a 5' 4", 130 pounder will come up with a tired line such as, "How's the weather up there?" Once a miserable runt (an important executive) said "If you got on your knees we could dance."

Millions of people read your column every day, Ann. If you succeed in teaching those thoughtless individuals that it is unkind to make remarks about a person's height or weight you will have performed a useful service.

—THE TALL ONE

Dear Ann Landers: About three years ago I read in your column that it is unwise for a girl to tell her fiancé all about her past. I wish I had taken your advice.

Last August Henry and I were married. Two weeks before the wedding he begged me to tell him about every fellow I ever went with. At first I didn't say much, because I didn't want him to think I was cheap (I went with two fellows seriously before I met Henry). He promised not to hold anything against me and said if I really loved him I'd confess ALL.

I finally caved in after several days of badgering. Now he throws up my past at least twice a week. No matter what we are arguing about he ends up reminding me that I was "pretty loose" before marriage.

Please print my letter and repeat your good advice.

—BIG MOUTH

Dear Big Mouth: I remember the advice and it went something like this: If a girl has a baby out of wedlock or has served a jail sentence she should not keep such information from her fiancé. But she's a fool if she recites the names and numbers of all the players. It's none of his business.

A fellow who would nag a girl for such information will use it against her later.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a good man in many ways but he has caused me a lot of heartache lately.

Testimonial Dinner Groups Meet Thursday

The steering committee of Fort Hill-Penna. Avenue Alumni Association met Thursday at Ft. Hill High School to further plans for a testimonial dinner honoring Victor D. Heisey, who will retire as principal this month.

The dinner will be June 27 at Shrine Country Club. Graduates have been contacted by letter and members may call Mrs. Mary Payne Courtney, 519 Prince George Street, 724-0338, or Mrs. Sadie MacIntosh Koser, Bedford Road, 724-7416 to place reservations.

The school office will be open from 9 until 4 p. m. weekdays and tickets may also be purchased there from Mrs. Kitty Pafel Wilson.

Raymond W. Hahne will be master of ceremonies for the dinner and William C. Lewis is in charge of art work.

The program and steering committees will hold a combined meeting Thursday in Room 115 at Fort Hill High School.

Walter 'Bookie' Henry is chairman of the steering committee, and Delbert Proudfoot is president of the alumni association.

Larcenies Reported To Police

Five larcenies in Cumberland during the past two days have been reported to local police.

City Police Detective Captain James E. Van said Stewart W. Laidlow of Martinsburg, W. Va., complained yesterday that someone took a wallet from the glove compartment of his parked car while he was using a telephone at the Queen City station.

Although the wallet contained no money, the culprit got credit cards, operator's license etc. from Laidlow's wallet.

Four larcenies were reported on Thursday, according to Capt. Van, who said Melvin McDonald, 608 Elwood Street, reported someone took an electric hedge clipper valued at $45 from his basement.

Robert Crawford, of RD 4, city, said someone took a pocket size transistor radio valued at $20 from his car which was parked on Frederick Street.

Herbert McFarland, of the Purple Heart Center here, told police someone removed an electric drill from one of the rooms at the center.

Joseph Bedinger, 120 Columbia Street, said an aluminum porch table valued at $5 was taken from his front porch during the night.

Festival Today

St. Luke's Lutheran Church will hold its annual strawberry festival today at 5:30 p. m.

Officers of the church said plate lunches also will be available.

The discovery of champagne is usually credited to Dom Perignon, cellar master of the abbey of Hautvillers in France from 1670 to 1715.

The steel of the famed Damascus blade, best of its day, is greatly excelled by the product turned out by present day steel makers.

MISS ALI GHAN CANDIDATES — Shown above are four more candidates for the title of "Miss Ali Ghan of 1962" who will compete with six others in a two-day pageant at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club beginning today. Left to right are Miss Elizabeth Ann Roeder, 20, of 811 Elmwood Lane, Miss Flag Unit; Miss Marie Kay Goebel, 23, of 25 Centennial Street, Frostburg; Miss Sandra Kay Starcher, 19, of 557 Patterson Avenue, Miss Patrol; and Miss Patricia Ann Bittner, 21, of 642 Baker Street, Miss Editor's Unit. City Firefighters Get Three Calls

City firemen had three calls yesterday including a smoke scare reported early in the morning.

The occupant of 209 Carroll Street thought there was something on fire on the premises at 3:34 a. m. but firemen from West Side station learned it was a smoke scare.

No sooner had the firemen tapped in at the station than firemen from South End station received a call to Avondale Avenue, where a rubbish fire was extinguished.

At 5:40 p. m. yesterday, West Side was out again, checking a call at Patterson Avenue near James Street, where a man with a permit was burning brush.

Granted Leave

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday granted Howard M. Bender, an employee in the County Roads Department, leave of absence for military duty.

A member of Company C, Medium Tank Battalion of the 115th Armor of the National Guard, he will be on training June 30 through July 14.

Escapees Sentenced In Garrett

Sentences in the Maryland Reformatory for Males were handed today to two youths who escaped from the State Forestry Camp near Lonaconing and stole an auto.

Terms of not more than two years were given Daniel Allen Frank and William Lee Durbin when they were tried by Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill in Garrett County Circuit Court, Oakland, Wednesday.

They pleaded guilty to charges of escaping from the forestry camp and to stealing a car belonging to Lorraine Blair Wiley, Grantsville.

The two-year terms given on each charge are to run concurrently, the judge ruled.

Judge Hamill also disposed of several other criminal cases.

Two of those involved were the two who stole J. Edward Helbig's Buick automobile from in front of Hinebaugh's Restaurant in Oakland about two weeks ago. They were Chester Ernest Haddix and Roger Dale Jewell. Both entered pleas of guilty to the charge but sentencing was deferred. The automobile was recovered in Ohio and West Virginia authorities picked up the two on charges in that state.

John Bernard Townsend, 33, of Bayard, W. Va., entered a plea of guilty to a charge of breaking and entering the dwelling of John Kitzmiller of near Gorman, and taking several rifles. He was sentenced to serve 18 months in the

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Public Service Commission ordered the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Friday to restore flagmen to passenger trains.

The railroad eliminated the job of flagman last month and created a new position — brakeman-baggage man — to perform the duties.

The commission, in a unanimous decision, said the dropping of flagmen "increased unreasonably the element of hazard and risk to the life and security of passengers."

he would probably pass another decree.

He said his decision would probably come by Wednesday.

Asked if he would request further arguments on the constitutional makeup of the Senate, Judge Duckett said: "I don't think so. But if either side makes such a request, I will grant it."

Alfred L. Scanlan, an attorney for the Fair Representation Committee, greeted the high court's order with optimism.

"It shows that the Court of Appeals wants to resolve the problem before the November 1962 elections," he said.

House of Correction but the sentence was suspended for a period of two years. He was placed under supervision of the parole and probation officer.

Richard Dale, Paugh, Kitzmiller, pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering the home of Hazel Rafter Henry, Kitzmiller, and stealing silver dollars, antique coins, rings and clothing.

He was sentenced to three years in the House of Correction and request made that he be transferred to Patuxent Institution for psychiatric examination.

Barry Edward Davis pleaded guilty to escape from the Meadow Mountain forestry camp and was sentenced to the Reformatory for Males for a period not exceeding two years. Sentence was suspended upon condition he return to the camp. He was placed under supervision of the parole officer.

Naval Unit To Hold Drive

Two recruiters have been appointed to coordinate the activity for Mobilization Team 5-2, according to Cmdr. C. H. Vossler, commanding officer of the unit, who said the appointments were made in response to an all-out recruiting drive by local Naval Reserve divisions.

Cmdr. D. D. Brown was selected as recruiting officer, and PM 2/c Jimmie D. Flanagan as unit recruiter. The recruiters said Mobilization Team 5-2 has openings for enlisted personnel in the following ratings:

Personnelman, yeoman, radioman, disbursing clerk and medical and dental ratings. An officer vacancy also exists.

Mob Team 5-2, it was explained, is trained to mobilize area Naval Reserve personnel in the event of a national emergency. Personnel from Keyser, the Tri-Towns, Paw Paw and Ridgeley, as well as Cumberland, attend training sessions each Thursday evening at the Naval Reserve Training Center here.

For information on the recruiting drive, Cmdr. Brown can be contacted at 722-1737, and PM 2/c Flanagan at 724-1040.

Information also can be obtained by contacting Lt. M. J. Gallo, commanding officer of the Training Center, and his staff at 722-0970.

Lt. Gallo said there are vacancies at the Training Center for qualified females and that qualified secretaries can enlist in the Navy's direct rating program.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to say a word to "Wee But Mighty"—the short lady who is sick and tired of hearing uncouth and thoughtless digs about her size.

I'm a woman 6 feet tall in my nylons and I'd gladly change places with her. I've always been tall, even as a youngster, and I can't recall a single unkind remark from a woman. It's the men I'd like to strangle. Usually a 5' 4", 130 pounder will come up with a tired line such as, "How's the weather up there?" Once a miserable runt (an important executive) said "If you got on your knees we could dance."

Millions of people read your column every day, Ann. If you succeed in teaching those thoughtless individuals that it is unkind to make remarks about a person's height or weight you will have performed a useful service.

—THE TALL ONE

Dear Ann Landers: About three years ago I read in your column that it is unwise for a girl to tell her fiancé all about her past. I wish I had taken your advice.

Last August Henry and I were married. Two weeks before the wedding he begged me to tell him about every fellow I ever went with. At first I didn't say much, because I didn't want him to think I was cheap (I went with two fellows seriously before I met Henry). He promised not to hold anything against me and said if I really loved him I'd confess ALL.

I finally caved in after several days of badgering. Now he throws up my past at least twice a week. No matter what we are arguing about he ends up reminding me that I was "pretty loose" before marriage.

Please print my letter and repeat your good advice.

—BIG MOUTH

Dear Big Mouth: I remember the advice and it went something like this: If a girl has a baby out of wedlock or has served a jail sentence she should not keep such information from her fiancé. But she's a fool if she recites the names and numbers of all the players. It's none of his business. A fellow who would nag a girl for such information will use it against her later.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a good man in many ways but he has caused me a lot of heartache lately.

Rewarding Foes, Losing Friends

It is interesting to note—as the remainder of the world certainly must at times—the manner in which the United States treats its allies. On the heels of Congressional refusal to increase fiscal 1963 Alliance for Progress funds beyond the established schedule, it is timely to take stock of the recipients of these funds and what positions they have taken in the cold war.

Few observers will forget the disappointing outcome of the hemispheric meeting which occurred in Punta del Este last January, when the Organization of American States met to adopt sanctions against the Communist regime of Fidel Castro.

Although Washington obviously expected near-unanimous support for its recommendation to throw Cuba out of the OAS and severely restrict commerce to the island as long as Castro remains its dictator, these plans were thwarted by six of the largest OAS members. It was only by drastic behind-the-scenes maneuvering that the U. S. was able to muster majority support for its condemnation of Castro.

Aid funds allocated since the January meeting to the six unfriendly countries and the 13 which voted with the United States reveal a shabby disregard by United States diplomats for loyalty by friends of the U. S.

More than $384 million has either been appropriated or committed since then to OAS members which voted against the U. S., but only $173 million has been made available to the 13 members which sustained the U. S. position. Brazil, the most vocal anti-U. S. nation, has received $120 million, or more than 20 per cent of the total.

Thus does the United States add another chapter in its serial, "How to Buy Enemies and Discourage Friends."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Look Back

In the discussions about Cuba and Indonesia, Laos and elsewhere, it is clear that the State Department, when Franklin D. Roosevelt was President, developed a concept that there were good dictators and bad dictators, honest men and dishonest men and that political judgments were to be based upon such psychological considerations.

This is brought out most clearly in a memorandum dated March 9, 1943, signed by John Davies Jr., the Second Secretary of the American Embassy in China. Discussing the Stilwell Mission to China, Davies wrote:

"We recognized before December 7, 1941 that China was endeavoring to get us to fight its battle against Japan. There has been no reason for a change in this Chinese attitude and there has in fact been no change, despite the disillusioning shock of Pearl Harbor which struck the Chinese with as great force as it did us."

This was written on March 9, 1943. The Chinese had been fighting the Japanese since 1931. The Japanese had taken Manchuria and the major commercial port of Shanghai. China had stood alone for 10 years until the United States entered the war. Beset by Communist activities, supported by Russia, China had fought valiantly and unconquered.

But Davies wrote:
"We have not bled enough for the liking of the Russians, the British or the Chinese. With political considerations looming so large in their calculations they are each fighting not only the common enemies but also, in a negative fashion, their allies."

What allies did China really have in 1943? Could she have regarded the Russians as allies, knowing that for centuries it had been Russian policy to conquer China? Chiang Kai-shek would have been a fool had he not realized that in the war against Japan, he would have no ally in Soviet Russia. And the fact is that Russia never came into the Far Eastern War until it was really over and then came in, for about a week, for the kill.

Davies also made a great discovery:
"A second fundamental difficulty confronting General Stilwell is that, in addition to his professional military task, he is involved, whether he likes it or not, in Chinese domestic politics."

Davies also wrote:
"In his efforts to short-circuit domestic politics, General Stilwell has as much as possible dealt directly with the Generalissimo. But the Generalissimo maintains his paramount position as he attained it—through political manipulation. He is not a dictator. He has no absolute over-all command. He manipulates a delicate and shifting balance of power. So there is no one with sure and final authority with whom General Stilwell can deal."

General Stilwell's task was to win the war. That is what he was sent to China to do. But he really set out to change China. The Chinese people have no concept of self-government. China had never been a national state. It was, in effect, a vast conglomeration of local self-governments—of village self-governments. Whereas the Emperor possessed great authority, the village was much like a New England township. If a man were asked what he belonged to, he would say Canton or Ningpo or some such place. It has always taken the finest diplomacy to hold China together. I do not mean only during the regime of Chiang Kai-shek, but throughout the history of the country.

It is possible to go on quoting Davies line by line to indicate an intellectual arrogance. Not even Mao Tse-tung has been able to change China. Davies wrote:

"China is badly in need of the Puritan spirit. The Chinese have not produced it themselves excepting, in a modified form, in the Generalissimo. If the Chinese Army is to be regenerated, it must be through General Stilwell. What he says sometimes stings the Chinese. But it has not gone wholly unappreciated. More than a score of high-ranking Chinese officers have come to him privately telling him he was doing China a great service by his forthrightness, that he is needed, and to keep on going straight down the road. And as has been said, even his political enemies have been impressed by what he has in six months produced at Ramgarh. He may yet perform what has seemed impossible—cause the launching of a Chinese offensive against the Japanese. If it happens it will have been a one-man achievement."

And that is what policy was based on!

Time For Administration To Act On Taxes

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—An era of tax confusion has begun. What taxes now will be raised? What taxes will be reduced? Just when will the new rates take effect? What changes of regulations are going to be made anyway by the treasury on the basis of the discretion already granted in existing laws?

These are but a few of the many questions which, if left unanswered, will tend to cause business to stagnate. As a lack of confidence spreads, a panicky psychology usually ensues.

It is time for stimulating leadership. More and more, President Kennedy is unwittingly creating the impression that he is floundering. He has reached what might be called a crisis in his political career. The stock-market break has brought no action or public expression from the White House that shows an awareness of what has happened.

The economy is in trouble, and the federal government can be the biggest single factor in its recovery. The enactment of a sensible tax-reform program is needed now and ought not to be postponed until the end of the congressional session, which would mean a probable deferment until next year.

Congress is ready to act. When will the Kennedy Administration get ready to act? The whole world is waiting to see if the President can avert another 1929-1941 depression. The New Deal floundered and failed then, and was rescued only by the expenditures in heavy-goods industries when America started arming after the outbreak of World War II in Europe. Surely the United States has learned that lesson and has a right this time to expect a more realistic leadership and a more constructive program.

What can a President do in the present situation? For one thing, he can accept the advice of those who have had experience in and know the American economy intimately from national and international viewpoints. He can put aside his partisanship and sit down with the leaders of both sides in Congress to develop a bipartisan program to provide the incentives to business growth and prosperity which are so sorely needed today.

Congress is in session now, and it is ready to follow a sensible leadership. It is entangled today in a tax-reform bill on a few items which do not go to the heart of the economic problems. Some of its provisions should either be laid aside or dealt with as part of a general tax-revision bill.

At the end of this month, moreover, the corporation tax of 52

per cent automatically goes down to 47 per cent unless the Congress acts to extend or modify the present law.

Congress can give business its greatest inspiration by enacting now a law that will fix a lower tax rate on corporate earnings for a set period of five years. Even if the reduction is just a few points, it will be an incentive to the businesses of the country. It will enable them to plan on the use of the money they will have been told in advance that they will save. Money spent by business out of tax savings can, in certain ways, generate more

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

IRREVERENCE — Newsmen covering the Senate conduct a pre-session conference on the Senate floor with Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and Minority Leader Everett Dirksen just before the gavel falls each day to learn about the schedule of the day's business.

They are under strict orders to be off the floor by noon, in conformity with long-standing rules about non-members not being there while Senate business is being conducted. But sometimes it's a tight squeak.

The other day, the small band of reporters were rushing off the floor as the Senate chaplain began his daily prayer—the unchanging first order of business when the clock strikes 12.

A lady in the visitors' gallery, who obviously mistook the gray-robed reporters for senators, was overheard to remark to her companion:

"Did you see all those senators rushing out of the chamber when the minister started to pray?"

BUGGING — Advances in the electronic arts have developed "bugging" devices to the point where they're available to all—at a price. The federal government has long been a principal purchaser of these little eavesdroppers which tape and broadcast conversations without the knowledge of the speakers, but industry is becoming a pretty big purchaser itself.

Business uses them primarily for industrial espionage, but they have other less devious uses. Executives have found them to be handy portable dictating machines that can be used "on the road" with the recorded tapes mailed back to their secretaries in the home office.

Some of the devices are so sensitive they can record conversations 50 feet away. It was one of this type that was used recently in a Washington hotel where one company was found to be spying on another company's work with the government.

An expert on the devices cautioned a reporter, however, not to present them as infallible. "Remember," he said, "that a mike doesn't have a brain. If there's a typewriter clattering, the little electronic idiot happily records that, too, along with air-conditioners, fans, slamming doors and drumming fingernails."

New York Publisher Enjoys Feud With JFK, Has 'Secret Weapon'

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Jock Whitney, publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, is really enjoying his feud with the White House. And he has a "secret weapon" which he says he will import to Washington to get even with John F. Kennedy for canceling those 22 subscriptions to his newspaper.

Whitney, who married the ex-wife of Congressman James Roosevelt and was a $62,000 contributor to Eisenhower's 1956 campaign, has come back from being Ike's Ambassador to the Court of St. James to take active supervision of the No. 1 Republican newspaper of New York. And he now plans to transfer Art Buchwald, caustic columnist on Europe, from Paris to Washington.

Buchwald is coming to Washington this month to look for a house, and should be settled in the nation's capital with his typewriter leveled at the Kennedy Administration by September.

During the Eisenhower Administration, Buchwald's description of Jim Hagerly's operation in Paris caused Jim to blow his top. Whitney now intends to test the "top-blowing" level, not only of Pierre Salinger but of the President.

Labor & Management In S. C.

A classic political test—whether it's better politics to represent the moneyed interests or the workingman—will be decided in the heart of the old Confederacy when

South Carolina goes to the polls next week.

On one side is a senior member of the U. S. Senate, Olin Johnston, who began life as a worker in a cotton mill and whom the late Gov. Max Gardner of North Carolina cited during the war as an example of what we were fighting for—the right of the son of a workingman to rise to the top.

On the other side is Gov. Ernest Hollings, bright, young, acid-tongued, with an unabashed record of battling against labor.

Political observers all over the country can take a cue from the South Carolina outcome to see whether the candidate of labor or management has the greatest voter appeal.

No two men could be more unlike than Hollings and Johnston. Gov. Hollings is the businessman's candidate, talks the part and dresses the part. He is just as much at home in the clubs along Wall Street as on the hustings of South Carolina, probably more so. He is also quite at home during the cocktail hour, and some of his critics in the drier portions of South Carolina have been critical of this.

In any event, his kind of talk has pleased the tycoons, especially in Texas, and they have been pumping television money into his campaign.

Senator Johnston, in contrast, is portly and courtly, speaks with a slow southern drawl, loves ham, serves hominy grits for breakfast every day of his life, never takes a drink, and once brought screams from the brewer-ies because he got cheap postal rates for temperance organizations.

Power On Capitol Hill

Despite his unassuming air and homey background, Johnston has rolled up more seniority than any other Senator, with the exception of three or four. He has almost a life or death power over post offices, postmasterships, the rate of postage stamps, and the civil service of the United States.

The svelte and handsome Hollings makes no bones about his support for the right-to-work laws—an anti-labor stand that has hurt candidates in most other elections. He has been caught in an equivocation, however, about his failure to vote on this issue when a member of the state legislature. At that time he was absent for 17 roll calls on the right-to-work bill. Eight years ago, he tried to win labor support by citing this absenteeism.

Talk, Talk, Talk

By John Crosby

WOR now claims, more or less over the dead body of WNEW, that it is the most listened-to radio station in New York City and maybe in the whole United States. Yet all they do on that station is talk, talk, talk, eighteen solid hours of chatter, which was once considered to be the surest way to drive the listener somewhere else. What's happening to us?

"The art of conversation is returning, I hope, to our country," WOR's general manager, Robert J. Leder, says. (I'm not sure that listening to Dorothy and Dick necessarily denotes a love of conversation, but let it pass.) WOR has always been a talk station, never a music station, and in the early '40s, it had all those commentators like Fulton Lewis Jr., Gabriel Heatter, and so forth.

In the mid '40s, radio stations in New York started the exclusive emphasis on music which was apparently a whopping success. However, Leder, who came to WOR from WINS, a rock 'n' roll station, thought rock 'n' roll was shifting sand to build a permanent audience on. "I made a market study and found that 40 per cent of the popular music commanded 60 per cent of the audience. But that left 40 per cent that apparently wanted something else. They wanted better music or news or good conversation or maybe even idle conversation. They were adults basically."

"I figured if I could command this 40 per cent we'd have a hell of a station. I also knew we'd move more merchandise. You can't sell kids anything but soft drinks. They are a very limited market."

Leder built his talk station around the talkers he already had on the air—Martha Dean (a generic name owned by the station) who has a very good interview program, Ed and Peggen Fitzgerald, the original husband and wife show, Dorothy and Dick Kollmar, who tell where they were last night and who else was there, and to all this wealth of gabble he added the 15-minute news shows every hour.

"Once having been exposed to talk and having no where else to go for it, our audience increased," says Leder happily. "In 1957 it started and it's still increasing today. It's the damndest tribute to the adult mind. We are now number one radio station in New York. We've added more talkers as we went along. One was Faye Henley, who does a financial show for women. How about that! She actually increased the audience in that time spot (3:15-4:00 p. m. daily) by 50 per cent. Faye hasn't a good radio voice, but she's a good reporter and she talks about everything from mutual funds to wills. The voice is not too important. (Shades of Tony Wons —

Hollings is also seeking business support by claiming to be the champion of economy. Johnston, however, points out that Hollings tripled the expense of operating the governor's mansion when he lived there. Olin knows something about this, because he served as governor of South Carolina back in the 1930's.

In the simultaneous gubernatorial race, South Carolina has five candidates, of whom two have national significance—Donald Russell, former Assistant Secretary of State, and Burnet Maybank Jr., son of the late Senator by that name.

Russell has had a brilliant career as president of the University of South Carolina and assistant to former Secretary of State Jimmy Byrnes. When in the State Department he took the initiative in quietly cleaning out Alger Hiss and certain other security risks long before Joe McCarthy made this a political issue.

"Doctor" Bob Hope

Bob Hope, who has kidded kings, presidents, and himself, got quite serious when receiving an honorary degree from Georgetown University this week.

"I wish my mother could have been here for this ceremony," he told the graduating class. "She was a realist, and a wise one. I remember her saying, 'Leslie (that's British for Robert), it's not so important that you go to college, what's important is that you get an education.'"

"She used to hit me with another bit of old-fashioned wisdom—that every young man receives two educations: the first, from his teachers; the second, more personal and important, from himself. But mom was only a mother, and I didn't pay too much attention."

"A good many years later, a couple of wars later, thousands of moments later, of seeing how much good a few laughs can do for men on the thin edge of dying for their country, I discovered what she meant by 'more personal and important.' I discovered that the most gratifying kind of education is that which makes a man happy in the knowledge that he's a little bit useful to others."

"For the last 20 years I've been running around the earth entertaining fellows your age in jungles, stuck away on sandbars in the oceans, cooped up in nature's iceboxes—and I've learned that if you give a little of yourself to others, it will come back in carloads."

"Today is one of those come-back days."

Exciting Drama Of The Nursery Incubator

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The drama of the nursery incubator is almost as exciting as Col. Glenn's three orbits around the world. The machine is not as complicated as a space ship but the premature is watched and handled with just as much special care and attention. It may be nip and tuck during the first 10 days, especially when the handful of humanity has only a feeble flickering of life.

Who knows but what the life

that is saved will be a future Darwin, Napoleon, Voltaire, or Rousseau? All these geniuses had small beginnings. Victor Hugo was said to be no bigger than a knife when born and Sir Isaac Walton was so tiny he could be put into a quart mug. I often wonder how many potential leaders died in bygone days for want of an incubator.

Tiny Bridget was a shade more than 2½ pounds when born at Chicago's Mount Sinai hospital. Her color was poor and breathing was not discernible. She was placed in an incubator and given artificial respiration along with heart stimulants. By the end of 32 hours, the physicians and nurses offered some hope she might live. After the first month, her life was saved on several occasions by the quick thinking of a nurse who used a hand apparatus to remove the mucus that blocked the throat.

Bridget was kept in a special incubator with piped in oxygen and a thermostat to control the temperature. The linen was pre-folded so the nurse could open the package needed to make the bed with but two motions of the hand.

The premie was fed water first and then milk through a plastic tube. At 10 weeks of age she was given a blood transfusion to combat anemia. Meanwhile, she was weighed inside the incubator via a tiny hammock suspended from a rod leading down from a scale on top of the ma-

Try And Stop Me

Charles Brower, of Batten, Barton, etc., warns eager young account executives that if they had courted their wives the way they court prospects, their patter would have sounded something like this: "I can see you are a smart girl; the kind that can't be fooled on value. So you'll notice that I am wearing a $300 suit. That suit, Girlie, is only an outward indication of the super-hydraulic, synchro-mesh, patented double-action heart that beats beneath it. Now listen carefully to something I tell only a chosen few. I am in limited supply. There are a lot of women after me. So for one day only, I'm offering to marry you. But you'll have to hurry—hurry—hurry—before I'm all gone."

At the conclusion of a first—and most painful—session with a brand new patient, a psychoanalyst cleared his throat and murmured, "Now about weekly bills and where they're to be sent."

"Ah," interrupted the patient. "I see you are concerned about my credit rating. Don't worry about a thing, Doctor. You're going to get every penny I ever owe you or my name isn't Napoleon Bonaparte!"

When a raucous customer proposed his seventh consecutive toast to Honolulu, Bartender Clancy paused to inquire, "Say, Buddy, you come from Hawaii?" "No," said the customer, "but my wife's flying there tomorrow."

The economy is in trouble, and the federal government can be the biggest single factor in its recovery. The enactment of a sensible tax-reform program is needed now and ought not to be postponed until the end of the congressional session, which would mean a probable deferment until next year.

Congress is ready to act. When will the Kennedy Administration get ready to act? The whole world is waiting to see if the President can avert another 1929-1941 depression. The New Deal floundered and failed then, and was rescued only by the expenditures in heavy-goods industries when America started arming after the outbreak of World War II in Europe. Surely the United States has learned that lesson and has a right this time to expect a more realistic leadership and a more constructive program.

What can a President do in the present situation? For one thing, he can accept the advice of those who have had experience in and know the American economy intimately from national and international viewpoints. He can put aside his partisanship and sit down with the leaders of both sides in Congress to develop a bipartisan program to provide the incentives to business growth and prosperity which are so sorely needed today.

Congress is in session now, and it is ready to follow a sensible leadership. It is entangled today in a tax-reform bill on a few items which do not go to the heart of the economic problems. Some of its provisions should either be laid aside or dealt with as part of a general tax-revision bill.

At the end of this month, moreover, the corporation tax of 52

per cent automatically goes down to 47 per cent unless the Congress acts to extend or modify the present law.

Congress can give business its greatest inspiration by enacting now a law that will fix a lower tax rate on corporate earnings for a set period of five years. Even if the reduction is just a few points, it will be an incentive to the businesses of the country. It will enable them to plan on the use of the money they will have been told in advance that they will save. Money spent by business out of tax savings can, in certain ways, generate more

WASHINGTON — Jock Whitney, publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, is really enjoying his feud with the White House. And he has a "secret weapon" which he says he will import to Washington to get even with John F. Kennedy for canceling those 22 subscriptions to his newspaper.

Whitney, who married the ex-wife of Congressman James Roosevelt and was a $62,000 contributor to Eisenhower's 1956 campaign, has come back from being Ike's Ambassador to the Court of St. James to take active supervision of the No. 1 Republican newspaper of New York. And he now plans to transfer Art Buchwald, caustic columnist on Europe, from Paris to Washington.

Buchwald is coming to Washington this month to look for a house, and should be settled in the nation's capital with his typewriter leveled at the Kennedy Administration by September.

During the Eisenhower Administration, Buchwald's description of Jim Hagerty's operation in Paris caused Jim to blow his top. Whitney now intends to test the "top-blowing" level, not only of Pierre Salinger but of the President.

Labor & Management In S. C.

A classic political test—whether it's better politics to represent the moneyed interests or the workingman—will be decided in the heart of the old Confederacy when spending and increase employment and ultimately result in more tax receipts.

But the political tendency will be to give a tax cut to lower-income brackets because this means more votes. It can, however, mean a loss of votes, especially if the tax bill fails to cure unemployment. For to increase consumer spending isn't by itself the way to strengthen the economy. Consumer spending at present is not in a bad way. It is the heavy-goods industries that are in a depression and have been since 1958, and this is the key to high unemployment figures.

The question is already being asked how the proposals for a general tax cut emanating from Administration circles nowadays can do any good if it results in a big deficit in the federal budget. The answer is that another big deficit will certainly cause inflation to return, which means higher prices and demands for higher wages. When the temporary stimulus has run its course, there would be the same kind of decline in the health of the general economy that is being experienced today.

A simple solution is to confine tax cuts only to those categories which will stimulate the weak spots in the economy. A reduction in corporate-tax rates and a revised set up depreciation rules for all types of businesses are imperative today. This would mean an increase in business volume and tax receipts far outweighing any loss of revenue due to reductions in existing tax rates. There has been too much delay. Changes have been promised, but the promises have not been kept. Business has become discouraged. Planning is at a standstill in many enterprises.

Mistakes already have been made by the President which have unsettled the stock markets of the world. Vague generalities will not help any more than will abstract promises about tax reductions that may be made—perhaps next year. It is a time for action and not for mere words or ambiguous promises.

South Carolina goes to the polls next week.

On one side is a senior member of the U. S. Senate, Olin Johnston, who began life as a worker in a cotton mill and whom the late Gov. Max Gardner of North Carolina cited during the war as an example of what we were fighting for—the right of the son of a workingman to rise to the top.

On the other side is Gov. Ernest Hollings, bright, young, acid-tongued, with an unabashed record of battling against labor.

Political observers all over the country can take a cue from the South Carolina outcome to see whether the candidate of labor or management has the greatest voter appeal.

No two men could be more unlike than Hollings and Johnston. Gov. Hollings is the businessman's candidate, talks the part and dresses the part. He is just as much at home in the clubs along Wall Street as on the hustings of South Carolina, probably more so. He is also quite at home during the cocktail hour, and some of his critics in the drier portions of South Carolina have been critical of this.

In any event, his kind of talk has pleased the tycoons, especially in Texas, and they have been pumping television money into his campaign.

Senator Johnston, in contrast, is portly and courtly, speaks with a slow southern drawl, loves ham, serves hominy grits for breakfast every day of his life, never takes a drink, and once brought screams from the brewers because he got cheap postal rates for temperance organizations.

Power On Capitol Hill

Despite his unassuming air and homey background, Johnston has rolled up more seniority than any other Senator, with the exception of three or four. He has almost a life or death power over post offices, postmastercies, the rate of postage stamps, and the civil service of the United States.

The svelte and handsome Hollings makes no bones about his support for the right-to-work laws—an anti-labor stand that has hurt candidates in most other elections. He has been caught in an equivocation, however, about his failure to vote on this issue when a member of the state legislature. At that time he was absent for 17 roll calls on the right-to-work bill. Eight years ago, he tried to win labor support by citing this absenteeism.

Hollings is also seeking business support by claiming to be the champion of economy. Johnston, however, points out that Hollings tripled the expense of operating the governor's mansion when he lived there. Olin knows something about this, because he served as governor of South Carolina back in the 1930's.

In the simultaneous gubernatorial race, South Carolina has five candidates, of whom two have national significance—Donald Russell, former Assistant Secretary of State, and Burnet Maybank Jr., son of the late Senator by that name.

Russell has had a brilliant career as president of the University of South Carolina and assistant to former Secretary of State Jimmy Byrnes. When in the State Department he took the initiative in quietly cleaning out Alger Hiss and certain other security risks long before Joe McCarthy made this a political issue.

"Doctor" Bob Hope

Bob Hope, who has kidded kings, presidents, and himself, got quite serious when receiving an honorary degree from Georgetown University this week.

"I wish my mother could have been here for this ceremony," he told the graduating class. "She was a realist, and a wise one. I remember her saying, 'Leslie (that's British for Robert), it's not so important that you go to college, what's important is that you get an education.'"

"She used to hit me with another bit of old-fashioned wisdom—that every young man receives two educations: the first, from his teachers; the second, more personal and important, from himself. But mom was only a mother and I didn't pay too much attention."

"A good many years later, a couple of wars later, thousands of moments later, of seeing how much good a few laughs can do for men on the thin edge of dying for their country, I discovered what she meant by 'more personal and important.' I discovered that the most gratifying kind of education is that which makes a man happy in the knowledge that he's a little bit useful to others."

"For the last 20 years I've been running around the earth entertaining fellows your age in jungles, stuck away on sandbars in the oceans, cooped up in nature's iceboxes—and I've learned that if you give a little of yourself to others, it will come back in carloads."

"Today is one of those come-back days."

Talk, Talk, Talk

By John Crosby

WOR now claims, more or less over the dead body of WNEW, that it is the most listened-to radio station in New York City and maybe in the whole United States. Yet all they do on that station is talk, talk, talk, eighteen solid hours of chatter, which was once considered to be the surest way to drive the listener somewhere else. What's happening to us?

"The art of conversation is returning, I hope, to our country," WOR's general manager, Robert J. Leder, says. (I'm not sure that listening to Dorothy and Dick necessarily denotes a love of conversation, but let it pass.) WOR has always been a talk station, never a music station, and in the early '40s, it had all those commentators like Fulton Lewis Jr., Gabriel Heatter, and so forth.

In the mid '40s, radio stations in New York started the exclusive emphasis on music which was apparently a whopping success. However, Leder, who came to WOR from WINS, a rock 'n' roll station, thought rock 'n' roll was shifting sand to build a permanent audience on. "I made a market study and found that 40 per cent of the popular music commanded 60 per cent of the audience. But that left 40 per cent that apparently wanted something else. They wanted better music or news or good conversation or maybe even idle conversation. They were adults basically."

"I figured if I could command this 40 per cent we'd have a hell of a station I also knew we'd move more merchandise. You can't sell kids anything but soft drinks. They are a very limited market."

Leder built his talk station around the talkers he already had on the air—Martha Dean (a generic name owned by the station) who has a very good interview program, Ed and Peggeen Fitzgerald, the original husband and wife show; Dorothy and Dick Kollmar, who tell where they were last night and who else was there, and to all this wealth of gabble he added the 15-minute news shows every hour.

"Once having been exposed to talk and having no where else to go for it, our audience increased," says Leder happily. "In 1957 it started and it's still increasing today. It's the damndest tribute to the adult mind. We are now number one radio station in New York. We've added more talkers as we went along. One was Faye Henley, who does a financial show for women. How about that! She actually increased the audience in that time spot (3:15-4:00 p. m. daily) by 50 per cent. Faye hasn't a good radio voice, but she's a good reporter and she talks about everything from mutual funds to wills. The voice is not too important. (Shades of Tony Wons — the voice and only the voice was important!)

"I think people are more demanding and selective. For instance, I think many people listen to the Fitzgeralds not so much because they are frivolous but to listen to Ed's reviews of books and plays. He's a damn good reviewer and his audience knows it. The audience today is more aware—politically, intellectually, economically, and every other way."

WOR goes in heavily for service shows, which also were considered death in the old days. In their 18 hours of talk, the listeners gets all sorts of services besides the usual news and weather—traffic reports, market tips, food and health advice, reviews of books or plays, and school news. WOR has always had a reputation of being a carpet-slipper station, that is one cozening exclusively to the old folks. Leder indignantly denied it. "We pick up the people at the marriage age. They call us the carpet slipper station because they stay with us till the day they die."

WOR and its talk formula is being imitated, Leder said, in key cities like Boston, San Francisco, and Los Angeles. "The trick is to find good people who are identified locally with the community. There is a blandness and a vagueness about personalities who are not identified with the local scene."

"We never succumbed to the top 40 tunes and there are a few other stations throughout the country who didn't either. Stations like KMOX in St. Louis, WJR in Detroit, WSYR in Syracuse, and a few others. We all believe in quality adult radio."

"Radio is not out of business. If a radio station is not enjoying popularity during the last 15 years, it's the station's own fault. It isn't giving the public what it wants. We make a gross revenue of $7 million a year, which is the highest in the country and we do it with service shows."

Leder still dreams of bringing drama back to radio. "I'd like to do a two-hour dramatic show every night. TV is so damned dreadful that they're driving the people away. I think a lot of them would look forward to a good radio drama again."

Exciting Drama Of The Nursery Incubator

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The drama of the nursery incubator is almost as exciting as Col. Glenn's three orbits around the world. The machine is not as complicated as a space ship but the premature is watched and handled with just as much special care and attention. It may be nip and tuck during the first 10 days, especially when the handful of humanity has only a feeble flickering of life.

Who knows but what the life

that is saved will be a future Darwin, Napoleon, Voltaire, or Rousseau? All these geniuses had small beginnings. Victor Hugo was said to be no bigger than a knife when born and Sir Isaac Walton was so tiny he could be put into a quart mug. I often wonder how many potential leaders died in bygone days for want of an incubator.

Tiny Bridget was a shade more than 2½ pounds when born at Chicago's Mount Sinai hospital. Her color was poor and breathing was not discernible. She was placed in an incubator and given artificial respiration along with heart stimulants. By the end of 32 hours, the physicians and nurses offered some hope she might live. After the first month, her life was saved on several occasions by the quick thinking of a nurse who used a hand apparatus to remove the mucus that blocked the throat.

Bridget was kept in a special incubator with piped in oxygen and a thermostat to control the temperature. The linen was pre-folded so the nurse could open the package needed to make the bed with but two motions of the hand.

The preemie was fed water first and then milk through a plastic tube. At 10 weeks of age she was given a blood transfusion to combat anemia. Meanwhile, she was weighed inside the incubator via a tiny hammock suspended from a rod leading down from a scale on top of the ma-

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Charles Brower, of Batten, Barton, etc., warns eager young account executives that if they had courted their wives the way they court prospects, their patter would have sounded something like this: "I can see you are a smart girl; the kind that can't be fooled on value. So you'll notice that I am wearing a $300 suit. That suit, Girlie, is only an outward indication of the super-hydraulic, synchro-mesh, patented double action heart that beats beneath it. Now listen carefully to something I tell you a chosen few. I am in limited supply. There are a lot of women after me. So for one day only, I'm offering to marry you. But you'll have to hurry—hurry—hurry—before I'm all gone."

At the conclusion of a first—and most painful—session with a brand new patient, a psychoanalyst cleared his throat and murmured, "Now about weekly bills and where they're to be sent. . ."

"Ah," interrupted the patient. "I see you are concerned about my credit rating. Don't worry about a thing, Doctor. You're going to get every penny I ever owe you or my name isn't Napoleon Bonaparte!"

When a raucous customer proposed his seventh consecutive toast to Honolulu, Bartender Clancy paused to inquire, "Say, Buddy, you come from Hawaii?"

"No," said the customer, "but my wife's flying there tomorrow."

Beall Students Leave Tuesday For Washington

Tour Will Feature Visit With President

FROSTBURG — Over 120 Beall High students along with chaperones will leave at 4 a.m. Tuesday by bus to tour Washington, D.C. for two days.

The group consists of all the social studies classes of the eighth grade and this trip is the culminating event for the year's work, being the reward for all students who have had no serious offenses, no disciplinary record in the office, and who have completed all required work for the year's social studies.

President John F. Kennedy will meet with them at 9:40 a.m. Tuesday after which they will tour the White House. Senator J. Glenn Beall will hold a conference with them followed by a tour of the Capitol Building. Other buildings to be visited are F.B.I. Building, Bureau of Printing and Engraving, Smithsonian Institute, Washington Monument, Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials, Franciscan Monastery, Wax Museum, Archives Building, and Arlington Cemetery. A night baseball game will be viewed between the Washington Senators and Cleveland Indians.

All arrangements have been made by student committees who have been working on this project for the last six weeks of school during lunch hours and after school only. No school hours were used for the work. The students in charge of the committees are General chairmen; Deborah Rizer and Richard Willetts; Mary Lynn Stevenson and Charles Davidson; treasurers; Diane Jones, art; Carolyn Drew, reservations; Richard Willetts, transportation; Mason Diehl, food; John Drummond and Judy Weitzel, dress; Elaine Lohr, presentation; Robert Blair, tour; Barbara Evans, first aid; Dana Harden, chaperone; Jeanlyn Lewis and Michael Truly, entertainment; and Sandra Grose, letter writing.

The group will have their meals at the Pentagon and Agriculture Building, stay overnight at the Potomac Park Motor Court, Alexandria, Va., and will be met at the District of Columbia and Alexandria line by a Metropolitan Police escort, which will remain with them throughout the entire tour.

A key to Frostburg, made by the students, will be presented to President Kennedy in conjunction with the coming Sesquicentennial with the compliments of Frostburg Mayor Joseph James Phillips. Flower Shop assisted the students in preparing the ribbon and flowers for the key presentation.

Chaperones for the event will be social studies instructor Mrs. Mary B. Diller, Mrs. Helen Vogel, Miss Janet Nelson Carolyn Dolly, Edward Arnone, and Dr. Wayne Hill, school principal.

Frostburg Playlot Opens Monday

FROSTBURG—East End Playlot will open at 10 a.m. Monday with Miss Ruth Lee Kreitzburg as supervisor.

Hardy County Will Support Centennial

Sullivan Speaks At Moorefield

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Hardy contains have promised their wholehearted support to Carl Sullivan, executive director of the West Virginia Centennial Commission.

Mr. Sullivan addressed a banquet here Monday night at the Fireman's Hall. He said plans for the state-wide celebration next year have been in the making since 1955, when the commission was created by the legislature.

The budget for the celebration is $1 million, of which $400,000 was appropriated by the legislature. That leaves $600,000 to be raised from citizens and business firms in the state. The budget amounts to 50 cents for every West Virginian.

Mr. Sullivan said the objectives of the centennial are to increase pride in the state by West Virginians, to keep the youth from migrating, to encourage industrial and commercial development and to increase the tourist business.

Another objective of the centennial is to change the national image of West Virginia from the hill billy concept to the progressive citizens which actually make up the bulk of the population.

The centennial director expressed hope that the state-wide effort would solve many problems facing the state. He told of the special exhibits train that will tour West Virginia and neighboring states. Other activities planned include selection of a queen, promotion of arts and sculpture, folk operas native to the state, a commemorative stamp and the presentation of spectacles such as Honey in the Rock and The Anvil.

Mrs. R. E. Fisher reported on plans of the Moorefield Woman's Club, Judge H. Gus Munzing, speaking for the county, assured Mr. Sullivan that Hardy County citizens will support the celebration enthusiastically. Former Senator Ralph J. Bean said that Hardy County has some tourist attractions which should be properly marked. He said that Hardy County is the only one in West Virginia with three court houses still standing. Two sections of the county remained loyal to King George III during the American Revolution.

Kiwanis Club Is Briefed On Housing Plans

KEYSER — A varied program relating to the future of Keyser and the future of rocketry at Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory featured a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Wednesday night in the Rose Room of the Rosemont Restaurant.

President Eddie Daskal, a member of the Keyser Housing Authority, displayed architect's drawings of the new housing units to be erected on Potomac Heights and explained the interior and exterior designs as well as showing complete layouts of the two, three, four, six, and eight-unit dwellings.

Mr. Daskal said many buildings have been vacated and will be torn down to make way for the new structures and that several more families are expected to move out in the near future.

Approximately 70 units will be built with rent ranging from $22 per month up, depending on the individual's income. An inspector will be hired to keep watch over the property and serve as a maintenance supervisor.

The sketches and blueprints will also be shown to members of the Rotary and Lions clubs during their meetings this week.

The second portion of the program was presentation of a film entitled "Out of This World," which was a review of what Hercules Powder Company has done in the field of rocketry and a preview of what is expected in the future. Program chairman Harold Wimer, gave a prologue to the color film which was projected by Joseph W. Kessell, both employees at ABL.

Following a board meeting, members of the club went to the Rogers Funeral Home to pay final respects to the late Ross W. Prysock, a charter member of the Kiwanis Club.

Edward Vogelsson, Harrisburg, Pa., summer assistant to Rev. Donald D. Anderson, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church here, was a guest.

The word "beaver" for hat was used as early as the 14th century.

Beall Students Leave Tuesday For Washington

Tour Will Feature Visit With President

FROSTBURG — Over 120 Beall High students along with chaperones will leave at 4 a.m. Tuesday by bus to tour Washington, D.C. for two days.

The group consists of all the social studies classes of the eighth grade and this trip is the culminating event for the year's work, being the reward for all students who have had no serious offenses, no disciplinary record in the office, and who have completed all required work for the year's social studies.

President John F. Kennedy will meet with them at 9:40 a.m. Tuesday after which they will tour the White House. Senator J. Glenn Beall will hold a conference with them followed by a tour of the Capitol Building. Other buildings to be visited are F.B.I. Building, Bureau of Printing and Engraving, Smithsonian Institute, Washington Monument, Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials, Franciscan Monastery, Wax Museum, Archives Building, and Arlington Cemetery. A night baseball game will be viewed between the Washington Senators and Cleveland Indians.

All arrangements have been made by student committees who have been working on this project for the last six weeks of school during lunch hours and after school only. No school hours were used for the work. The students in charge of the committees are General chairmen, Deborah Rizer and Richard Willets; Mary Lynn Stevenson and Charles Davidson, treasurers; Diane Jones, art; Carolyn Drew, reservations; Richard Willets, transportation; Mason Diehl, food; John Drummond and Judy Weitzel, dress; Elaine Lohr, presentation; Robert Blair, tour; Barbara Evans, first aid; Dana Harden, chaperone; Jeanlyn Lewis and Michael Truly, entertainment; and Sandra Grose, letter writing.

The group will have their meals at the Pentagon and Agriculture Building, stay overnight at the Potomac Park Motor Court, Alexandria, Va., and will be met at the District of Columbia and Alexandria line by a Metropolitan Police escort, which will remain with them throughout the entire tour.

A key to Frostburg, made by the students, will be presented to President Kennedy in conjunction with the coming Sesquicentennial with the compliments of Frostburg Mayor Joseph James. Phillips Flower Shop assisted the students in preparing the ribbon and flowers for the key presentation.

Chaperones for the event will be social studies instructor Mrs. Mary B. Diller, Mrs. Helen Vogel, Miss Janet Nelson Carolyn Dolly, Edward Arnone, and Dr. Wayne Hill, school principal.

Richardson's Single Beats Hoyt Wilhelm

Coates Is Victor; Scoreless String Is 28 1/3 Innings

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees, held to two hits in their seventh inning by Chuck Estrada, hopped on their old nemesis, Hoyt Wilhelm, for a run in the eighth Friday night and beat the Baltimore Orioles, 1-0, for their third consecutive shutout victory.

Bobby Richardson, who experienced one of the worst nights of his career in the field, singled home the only run of the game off Wilhelm, after Estrada was forced to retire at the start of the eighth because he had strained his right elbow while batting in the top half of the inning.

Coates Is Victor
Jim Coates, who took over the Yankee pitching at the start of the second after starter Whitey Ford complained of a twinge in his left shoulder, yielded only one hit during the last eight innings to gain credit for his fifth victory of the year. The shutout stretched the string of scoreless innings by Yankee pitchers to 28 1/3.

Tom Tresh led off the eighth against Wilhelm with a single to center and then Coates, after bluffing a bunt, lashed a bad-hop single past shortstop Ron Hansen for his first hit of the year.

After Cleto Boyer hit into a forceout at second base, Richardson lashed a single to left to bring home Tresh with the winning run. Wilhelm got out of the inning by striking out Roger Maris and retiring John Blanchard on an outfield fly.

Has Wretched Night
Richardson, normally an outstanding fielder, had a wretched night defensively. He permitted a fly ball to drop between himself and Blanchard on the first batter of the game, and then fumbled Dick Williams' grounder for an error. He later fumbled a grounder on a potential double play ball and retired only one man, then made his second error of the game in the seventh.

A six-man explosion in the bottom of the 7th and final frame, capped by Gene Stair's base-cleaning triple, enabled Stringtown to register a come-from-behind 7-6 victory over Ellerslie in a County Softball League thriller yesterday at Stringtown.

The win enabled Stringtown to move into the .500 circle with a 7-7 record.

Trailing 6-1 going into the final frame, Stringtown coupled three walks with three hits to put the game on ice.

Mickey Wright Leads In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Mickey Wright, the steady 27-year-old pro from Dallas, shot a three-under-par 71 Friday for a two-round total of 140 and a two-stroke lead in the $7,500 Austin Women's Civilian golf tournament.

The smooth-swinging Miss Wright broke a four-way deadlock for first place and established herself in her usual role of favorite.

Little Sandra Haynie, a former Austin girl playing out of Fort Worth, Tex., was alone in second place with a 142 total after carding a 73.

Elks, Celanese Cop RCL Games

C. & P. Loses, 12-1, PPG Beaten, 13-3

The Elks walloped the C. & P. Telephone Company at Stitches Field, 12-1, and the Celanese A. A. trimmed Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at Celanese Field, 13-3, in Rocking Chair Softball League games played yesterday.

Arky Vaughn tossed a one-hitter for the Elks and was denied a shutout when he walked over the opposition's lone run in the 7th and final frame. The only hit he yielded was a single to centerfield by "Skip" Ellsworth in the fourth inning.

Manager Walter "Pooch" Orndorff sparked the Elks' 15-hit assault with a triple and two singles in four official trips while Lou Baker, Bob Pence and Jack Connolly obtained two hits each. Bill Cook excelled at short for the Elks, handling six chances without a miscue.

Manager John Vocke's Celanese A. scored five runs in the second and six runs in the third to crush P. P. G. while Nile Shuck scattered eight hits to register his fourth win against a single setback.

The Silkmen grouped a triple and double with four singles for five tallies in the second and coupled a pair of three-baggers with five singles for six markers in the third.

Archie Clark blasted a triple and single, "Moose" Lambert had two doubles and Joe Wolfe, Gene Davis, Bill Ware and Don Harden garnered two singles each for Celanese. Jim Lease accounted for three of PPG's eight bingles.

700 See Dappers Cop Booster Tilt

Davis And Williams Homer In 12-8 Game

Seven hundred persons attended the second "Booster Game" of the Dapper Dan Little League last night and saw the Dappers emerge the winner by the score of 12-8 over the Daps at Penn Avenue Field.

The Dappers collected a total of 12 hits including home runs by Walter Davis, of the Cardinals, and Doug Williams, of the Yankees, who were presented autographed baseballs.

One hundred and sixty boys representing eight teams participated in last night's 12-inning contest.

In the four three-inning tilts, the Cardinals topped the Tigers to a 6-6 tie, the Yankees edged the Athletics, 1-0, and the Cubs and Twins played a scoreless tie.

Managers of the teams were introduced by Gene Mason, director of the Cumberland Recreation Department.

Christ Charuhus, who got his start in baseball in Greece with the Sparta Sluggers had the honor of pitching the first ball which was caught by Nick Perlozzo, president of the Dapper Daps.

Al Martin, the umpire, when interviewed after the game, said Charuhus threw a "slider" and it was a perfect strike.

Mets, Cubs Split Even

New York Breaks Losing Streak, 4-3

CHICAGO (UPI) — The New York Mets snapped their 17-game losing streak Friday in the first game of a doubleheader, scoring an unearned run in the ninth inning to defeat the Chicago Cubs, 4-3, but Ron Santo's two-run single gave the Cubs a 3-2 win in the nightcap.

The second game was called in the eighth inning because of darkness, giving the Cubs their first win over the Mets in five decisions.

Rookie Cal Koonce held the Mets to six hits over the first seven innings before being lifted for a pinchhitter in the seventh when the Cubs broke a 1-1 tie with a double, two walks and Santo's single off loser Bob Miller.

Miller allowed the Cubs but four hits in losing his fourth straight game without a win.

Yankees Score Third Straight Shutout Win, Beat Baltimore, 1-0

Richardson's Single Beats Hoyt Wilhelm

Coates Is Victor; Scoreless String Is 28 1/3 Innings

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees, held to only two hits in the first seven innings by Chuck Estrada, hopped on their old nemesis, Hoyt Wilhelm, for a run in the eighth Friday night and beat the Baltimore Orioles, 1-0, for their third consecutive shutout victory.

Bobby Richardson, who experienced one of the worst nights of his career in the field, singled home the only run of the game off Wilhelm, after Estrada was forced to retire at the start of the eighth because he had strained his right elbow while batting in the top half of the inning.

Coates Is Victor
Jim Coates, who took over the Yankee pitching at the start of the second after starter Whitey Ford complained of a twinge in his left shoulder, yielded only one hit during the last eight innings to gain credit for his fifth victory of the year. The shutout stretched the string of scoreless innings by Yankee pitchers to 28 1/3.

Tom Tresh led off the eighth against Wilhelm with a single to center and then Coates, after bluffing a bunt, lashed a bad-hop single past shortstop Ron Hansen for his first hit of the year.

After Cleto Boyer hit into a forceout at second base, Richardson lashed a single to left to bring home Tresh with the winning run. Wilhelm got out of the inning by striking out Roger Maris and retiring John Blanchard on an outfield fly.

Has Wretched Night
Richardson, normally an outstanding fielder, had a wretched night defensively. He permitted a fly ball to drop between himself and Blanchard on the first batter of the game, and then fumbled Dick Williams' grounder for an error. He later fumbled a grounder on a potential double play ball and retired only one man, then made his second error of the game in the seventh.

Mickey Wright Leads In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Mickey Wright, the steady 27-year-old pro from Dallas, shot a three-under-par 71 Friday for a two-round total of 140 and a two-stroke lead in the $7,500 Austin Women's Civilian golf tournament.

The smooth-swinging Miss Wright broke a four-way deadlock for first place and established herself in her usual role of favorite.

Little Sandra Haynie, a former Austin girl playing out of Fort Worth, Tex., was alone in second place with a 142 total after carding a 73.

Elks, Celanese Cop RCL Games

C.&P. Loses, 12-1, PPG Beaten, 13-3

The Elks walloped the C. & P. Telephone Company at St. Elmo Field, 12-1, and the Celanese A. A. trimmed Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at Celanese Field, 13-3, in Rocking Chair Softball League games played yesterday.

Arky Vaughn tossed a one-hitter for the Elks and was denied a shutout when he walked over the opposition's lone run in the 7th and final frame. The only hit he yielded was a single to centerfield by "Skip" Ellsworth in the fourth inning.

Manager Walter "Pooch" Orndorff sparked the Elks' 15-hit assault with a triple and two singles in four official trips while Lou Baker, Bob Pence and Jack Connolly obtained two hits each. Bill Cook excelled at short for the Elks, handling six chances without a miscue.

Manager John Voeks's Celanese A. A. scored five runs in the second and six runs in the third to crush P. P. G. while Nile Shuck scattered eight hits to register his fourth win against a single setback.

The Silkmens grouped a triple and double with four singles for five tallies in the second and coupled a pair of three-baggers with five singles for six markers in the third.

Archie Carr blasted a triple and single, "Moose" Lambert beat two doubles and Joe Wolfe, Gene Davis, Bill Ware and Don Harden garnered two singles each for Celanese. Jim Lease accounted for three of PPG's eight bingles.

Market Closes Narrowly Mixed In Quiet Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks closed narrowly mixed in quiet trading Friday as a round of pre-weekend profit-taking erased a small early gain.

Volume totaled 2,560,000 shares, 200,000 lower than Thursday and the least since 2,259,000 shares changed hands on May 21.

Dow-Jones industrial average slipped 0.59 and Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks inched up 0.05.

A total of 1,230 issues changed hands, 543 advancing and 454 declining, 14 hitting new 1962 lows and 6 new highs.

Friday's action followed precisely the pattern predicted by those brokers who said the market would firm on President Kennedy's pledge to ask for "across-the-board" tax cuts, but warned that pre-weekend evening-up opera-

CD Completes Shelter Survey

The shelter survey conducted by Allegany County through the Civil Defense program has been completed and 51 per cent of buildings considered suitable have been secured, according to Charles G. Smith, county CD director.

Allegany County led the state in percentages of buildings validated for licensing under the program. Smith said cooperation of property owners was excellent and there were only three refusals of owners of buildings designated as possibly providing radiation shelter.

Smith also noted that the State Department of Education is offering teachers the opportunity to gain teaching credits by attending a summer school on Civil Four Allegany County persons will attend a radiological monitoring school at the University of Maryland under the cooperation of the Department of Defense program. The four selected as volunteer workers in the county CD organization.

The Right Rev. Harry Lee Doll, D. D., bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal Diocese of Maryland, will officiate at the Sacrament of the Eucharist and confirmation here Sunday.

Greenway avenues, at 9:30 a.m. and at St. Phillip's Chapel, Smallwood Street at 11:30 a.m. He will be making his first visit to the new church of the Holy Cross congregation and reception will be held in his honor.

His trip will mark the annual visitation by a representative of the diocese to the two congregations, according to Rev. W. J. Cox, rector of the two churches. The reception at Holy Cross Church will also be for the confirmation class.

Hafer Charged With Assault On Tax Agent

Posts $5,000 Bond Pending Hearing

John J. Hafer, local funeral director and businessman, was charged yesterday with felonious assault on an Internal Revenue Service investigator.

Federal agents arrested Hafer at 2 p. m. at his home, 230 Baltimore Avenue, on a warrant charging him with assault on Milton Kyhos, special agent in the intelligence division of the Internal Revenue Service.

Hafer, 56, was photographed and fingerprinted at City Police headquarters and was taken before U. S. Commissioner James Alfred Avirett to post $5,000 property bond for a preliminary hearing next Friday at 2 p. m.

Thomas B. Carney, assistant chief of the IRS intelligence division with offices in Baltimore, said the incident on which the charge was based took place last Friday, June 1, at Kyhos' office in the Cumberland Post Office.

Carney said Hafer came to the office unannounced while Kyhos was conducting an official investigation. Kyhos said Hafer walked in and began swinging at him. Kyhos ducked three punches and was not hit. Hafer left when a postal inspector and another IRS agent came into the office, Kyhos said.

The arrest was made yesterday afternoon by Ernest A. Breakfield Jr. and John L. Burkholder, investigators for the alcohol and tobacco division of the Treasury Department, on a warrant issued by Commissioner Avirett. They were accompanied by Special Agent Ernest E. Nizer of the Baltimore office of the IRS.

Hafer has been under investigation on income tax matters, Agent Kyhos said.

Two Injured In Accident

Two persons were hospitalized and another treated and released last night at Memorial Hospital following a two-car accident on Route 51 two miles east of Oldtown.

Admitted to the hospital were Mrs. Bessie Meyer Meyers, 63, of 1418 River Avenue, and her employer, Frank Davis, 71, also of 1418 River Avenue.

Mrs. Meyers received multiple laceration of the face and chin and a severe laceration of her leg. Mr. Davis sustained lacerations of the head. Both patients were reported in "good" condition.

Albert Mayfield, 40, of 1450 Mayfield Avenue, Morgantown, W. Va., was treated and released.

The accident was investigated by Tfc. Willis E. Foreman, but complete details were not available late last night.

Whitsunday Service Set

Tomorrow is Whitsunday and is observed annually by Emmanuel Episcopal Church as its Feast Day.

There will be celebrations of the Holy Communion both at 8 a. m. and 11 a. m. services tomorrow, according to Rev. H. M. Richardson, rector.

Because Whitsunday is considered the church's birthday, arrangements have been made for a birthday cake to be served to the children and adults of the parish in the parish house immediately after the later service.

At the 11 a. m. service, Rev. Mr. Richardson will award a cross to the acolyte who is considered to have been most helpful during the year.

Commissioners Get Road Complaint

Chester Wilmont, LaVale, yesterday appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners and complained about the condition of Camp Ground Road.

He said he had talked with Chester Fisher of the LaVale Sanitary Commission, who said the unit had no authority to act.

Commissioner John T. Rowan feels the sanitary commission should take care of the matter and has notified the Allegany County Board of Health which is to instruct the sanitary unit to take care of the complaint.

Boch, president of the company, with trophy presented to the company for having the fireman of the year and J. Glenn Beall Jr., immediate past president of the Independent Insurance Agents of the two counties, who gave the trophies.

Playlot Staff Will Be Given Training Course

A four-day training institute for the staff of the summer playground program will open Tuesday, June 12, at 10 a. m. in City Hall, according to C. Eugene Mason, recreation director.

Tuesday's session will cover all phases of playground administration, including attendance, playground hours, weekly schedules, accident reports, and requisitions. Leaders will be assigned to their positions and will be given keys.

The second day of the institute will be devoted to instruction in handicrafts. Mrs. Marion Wilson, arts and crafts director, and Mrs. Maxine Zehrbach will be in charge of the session held at North End Field House.

The third day's session, also at North End, will include a class on first aid taught by Vincent DeLaGrange, Red Cross first aid instructor. Organized games will be played in the afternoon.

The final sessions will be devoted to special events and organized games, playground newspapers, clubs and intra-city event. Certificates will be awarded at the end of the institute.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director, will be general supervisor of the program which will be offered on 14 grounds.

The staff will include 14 playground directors, two playground leaders, an arts and crafts director and one substitute playground leader.

City playgrounds will open for a nine-week season on June 18 and will close on August 17, Mr. Mason said.

State GOP Meets Today

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Republican Party convenes in the Lord Baltimore Hotel Saturday to nominate Frank Small Jr. of Prince Georges County as its candidate for governor of Maryland.

Former Republican Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin will deliver the keynote address as delegates to the nominating convention hammer out a platform and formally name GOP candidates.

Also to be nominated for the November election are Martin A. Ferris for attorney general, David C. Champion for comptroller, Edward T. Miller for the U. S. Senate and Newton I. Steers for congressman-at-large.

Small will address the delegates when he accepts the nomination.

$400 In Prizes Awarded In Firefighters Parade

$400 in prize money was awarded last night to winning units in a parade in Frostburg which climaxed the 50th anniversary of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Some $250 of the prize money was donated by the Frostburg Volunteer Fire Company, while the remaining $150 was offered by the association.

Shaft Fire Company received a prize of $25 as the best appearing unit in the line of march and Midland Company received $25 for the fire department with the most men.

Goodwill Company received $50 for the company with the most men and a drum or bugle corps, and Oakland Company received the second prize of $25 in this category.

$25 was given to Clarysville Company with the largest percentage of men in the parade, and the Lonaconing Band received $50 as the best band in the parade. The Oakland Band received $25 for second place.

The Blue Angels of Westernport was given $50 for the best drum corps, and Fulton Myers Drum Corps of Cumberland was given $25 for second place.

Keyser Fire Company received $50 for the best appearing out-of-state unit, with Wellersburg (Pa.) Company getting $25 for second place. Keyser also received $15 for having the best looking apparatus in the parade and Fort Ashby Company was given $10 for traveling the greatest distance.

Arion Band of Frostburg was given honorable mention since it could not participate for the prize money.

Judges for the parade were John J. Rowan, LaVale; Walter E. Jeffries and Leo F. Dean, Frostburg, and Frank Ort, Hagerstown.

Some 35 fire companies and six bands took part in the parade which attracted a large crowd.

Crawford Is New President Of Firemen

Cromwell Zembower Gets Top Honors

Charles Crawford, of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Department, yesterday afternoon was elected president of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association which held its 50th anniversary convention in Frostburg.

Cromwell C. Zembower, of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company, walked away with two top honors bestowed on a volunteer fireman.

He was chosen as "Fireman of the Year" and also received the James E. Lamberson Memorial Award for his work in fire prevention.

Roll call at the opening of the convention indicated that 28 of the 31 member companies were present as well as 16 past presidents.

The opening prayer was by John Eichhorn of Lonaconing and the address of welcome was by James McMorran of Frostburg who gave a few remarks on the 150th anniversary of Frostburg this year and extended a welcome to the volunteers to return to the community later this month and help celebrate the occasion.

Officers Elected
Response to McMorran's talk was given by Alvin Rankin of Frostburg.

Other officers elected during the convention were Luther Metz, Barton, vice president; Zembower, secretary; Rankin, treasurer; Felix Foote Sr., Lonaconing, chaplain, and David E. Kirk, Bowling Green, editor of the bulletin.

Various reports were made by officers and committee chairmen. The association approved a group life insurance policy for about 600 firemen which is tentatively to go into effect September 1.

A request from the New Creek Volunteer Fire Department to join the association was turned down since the bi-laws limit membership to the two Maryland counties.

Mt. Savage and Oakland, requested being the site for the 51st convention in 1963. The place will be Oakland.

Kirk and Williams A. Wilson, Midland, were endorsed for election as first vice president and treasurer respectively of the Maryland State Volunteer Firemen's Association. It was also announced that Frostburg will be the site of the 1963 state convention.

Felix Foote was given a rousing round of applause for attending his 50th association convention.

Hold Memorial

A memorial service for 14 firemen and four auxiliary members who died in the past year was held during the afternoon at First Presbyterian Church with Rev. E. M. Goetschius, pastor, giving the address.

Guests of honor at the convention include Leslie B. Thompson, Damascus, first vice president of the state association, who installed the officers.

Also Floyd Heimer, Grantsville, state secretary; Herman Hare, Hampstead, member of the executive board; Joseph Kelly, Benedict, member of the standards committee of the state unit; Earl Wyvill, Upper Marlboro, Robert Byrns, director of the Fire Service Extension of the University of Maryland; Ralph Small, Boulevard Heights, and Jack Reckner, Early Heights, past presidents.

David Powell, Frostburg, outgoing president of the two-county association, presided at yesterday's convention.

The next regular meeting of the association will be held July 1 in Grantsville.

Church Sets Meeting

The Apostolic Church of Barreille will hold a special meeting tomorrow at 10 a. m. at the church to plan the re-establishment and construction of the church.

Pollution Experts Battle Effects Of Detergents

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP)—Pollution control experts are battling the ill effects of a cleaning agent—detergent.

Robert W. Pierce discussed the problem at the closing meeting of the Maryland-Delaware Water and Sewage Association. Pierce is an officer of the Maryland Water Pollution Control Commission.

He said housewives' increased use of detergents had resulted in their flooding sewer systems where they remain foaming longer than soaps do.

The detergents thus pollute surface and ground waters far downstream from the source, the speaker said.

Pierce told the meeting that the detergents also represent a threat to aquatic life. The commission has launched a program designed to meet the problem, he added.

Court Orders Decision On Senate Makeup

Anne Arundel Must Act On Question

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland Court of Appeals ordered the Anne Arundel County Circuit Court Friday to decide promptly whether the state Senate is malapportioned in violation of the constitutional rights of metropolitan residents.

The Maryland Committee for Fair Representation had asked the state's high court to decide the question itself. It said Circuit Court Judge O. Bowie Duckett had sidestepped the issue earlier.

Judge Duckett ruled on May 24 that membership of the House of Delegates was unconstitutionally apportioned and said it was his belief that the Senate need not be reapportioned, since it is primarily based on geography.

He did not make a final decision in regards to the Senate but reserved the right to do so later if it were needed.

Is Remanded

The high court said Friday, "having considered the (committee's) motion to accelerate the appeal, (the state's) motion to dismiss the appeal, and the (committee's) answer to the (state's) motion, it is . . . ordered (undismissed) by the court of appeals that this case be remanded to the Circuit Court of Anne Arundel County, with directions to enter a decree promptly declaring Section 2 (Senate) of Article III of the constitution to be valid or invalid, as said court may determine."

Immediately following Judge Duckett's decision, Gov. Tawes called the Maryland Legislature into special session and it passed a temporary reapportionment measure adding 19 seats to the House for four big counties and two Baltimore City districts. These will take effect in the November 1962 elections.

Asks Dismissal

The Fair Representation Committee, at the same time the House was being reapportioned, appealed the lower court's decision not to make a ruling on the Senate. The state said Judge Duckett's ruling was an interlocutory decree and was not appealable. It asked the high court to dismiss the appeal.

The committee replied to the state's dismissal motion saying it was appealable since the high court ordered Judge Duckett initially to determine both questions and that he had decided only half of the issue.

The committee asked that the high court hear further arguments and decide the question itself.

"We see no purpose in sending the case back to the lower court and directing Judge Duckett to decide a question the court already has directed him to decide."

Is Notified

Judge Duckett, notified at his home of the order by the Court of Appeals, said he was uncertain as to his next move but that

Demos Adopt Platform For Fall Election

Racial Equality, Pay Hike Favored

By FRANK WETZEL

BALTIMORE (AP)—Delegates to the State Democratic Convention officially nominated the party candidates for the November general election and adopted a party platform Friday.

The party platform asked for enactment of an equal accommodations bill, salary increases for all 22,000 state employees and an auto inspection program.

The platform was adopted without debate, although Charles J. Luthardt Sr. of Glen Burnie, unsuccessful candidate for governor who claimed membership in the John Birch Society, booed when the equal accommodations plank was read. A spattering of applause, the only such during the reading of the platform, offset Luthardt's booing.

There was a brief discussion about the platform, but it never reached the convention floor.

Meeting Is Closed

Rourke Sheehan of the Montgomery County delegation said he proposed to the Resolutions Committee that the Maryland Senate be reapportioned and the unit vote be abolished. He said his proposals were turned down by voice vote. The meeting of the committee was closed to reporters. Milton F. Lurch, delegate from Prince Georges County, said he supported Sheehan's proposals before the committee.

Although the nominations were determined by the voting in the May 15 primary, the law requires the convention to officially nominate the party's candidates.

Gov. Tawes, in accepting the nomination, said the victory in the primary was not a personal triumph.

Rather, he said, it was "vindication of the policies and programs which I, and those working with me, have shaped and endeavored to carry out for the benefit of the people of this state."

He listed the accomplishments of his four years as governor and indicated he would campaign against the Republican gubernatorial nominee, Frank Small Jr., on his record.

Losers Appear

As each primary winner was put in nomination at the convention, his opponents in the party primary trooped to the platform to declare his support for the winner.

George P. Mahoney, Baltimore County contractor and one of Tawes' chief opponents in the bitter gubernatorial campaign, avowed, however, a direct endorsement of Tawes.

He emphasized that he was following the custom when he released his unit votes to Tawes. "I want to assure you," Mahoney said, "that I have always been a Democrat and I assure that I shall always remain a Democrat." That was as close as he came to an endorsement of Tawes.

David Hume, the third chief Democratic candidate for governor, by contrast, left no doubt of his support for the winning ticket. "Now," Hume said, "we must work within the framework of the party . . . If there has been weakness, let us create strength where there was weakness . . . from the inside, from the heart."

Tawes Cites Record

Tawes listed as accomplishments of his administration the reapportionment of the House of Delegates; a sound financial program; construction of new highways; a vigorous program to conserve the high caliber of public educators; better care for the mentally ill and the creation of greater job opportunities.

Nominated Friday with Tawes were Daniel B. Brewster of the U. S. Senate, Louis L. Goldstein for state comptroller, Thomas B. Finan for attorney general, and Carlton R. Sickles for congressman-at-large. All but Sickles were members of the Tawes ticket during the primary campaign.

Judge William C. Walsh of Cumberland acted as chairman of the Resolutions Committee and also nominated Finan for attorney general.

Phone Workers To Get Increase

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of Maryland agreed Friday to wage increases ranging from $2 to $4.50 per week for about 5,000 employees in Maryland.

The salary increase was announced in a joint statement by L. Mercer Smith, vice president of the company, and William K. Edwards, area director of the Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO.

No figures were available immediately on present wage scales. The provisions of the new agreement become effective Sunday, subject to ratification by the union members.

The bargaining negotiations were conducted under the current company-union general agreement effective two years ago for a three-year period with wage reopener provisions for each year.

Film To Be Shown

A film, "Mediterranean Holiday," open to the public will be shown tonight at 9:30 in grill room of the Fort Cumberland Hotel by the Conlon Travel Agency.

Discuss Convention Activities

Maryland Democrats got together in Baltimore yesterday for the 1962 state convention where they decided on the planks in the party platform for the general election campaign. They also formally nominated Governor Millard Tawes as the party's gubernatorial candidate. Several state central committee chairmen are seen here discussing convention activities with conven-

Hafer Charged With Assault On Tax Agent

Posts $5,000 Bond Pending Hearing

John J. Hafer, local funeral director and businessman, was charged yesterday with felonious assault on an Internal Revenue Service investigator.

Federal agents arrested Hafer at 2 p. m. at his home, 230 Baltimore Avenue, on a warrant charging him with assault on Milton Kyhos, special agent in the intelligence division of the Internal Revenue Service.

Hafer, 56, was photographed and fingerprinted at City Police headquarters and was taken before U. S. Commissioner James Alfred Avirett to post $5,000 property bond for a preliminary hearing next Friday at 2 p. m.

Thomas B. Carney, assistant chief of the IRS intelligence division with offices in Baltimore, said the incident on which the charge was based took place last Friday, June 1, at Kyhos' office in the Cumberland Post Office.

Carney said Hafer came to the office unannounced while Kyhos was conducting an official investigation. Kyhos said Hafer walked in and began swinging at him. Kyhos ducked three punches and was not hit. Hafer left when a postal inspector and another IRS agent came into the office, Kyhos said.

The arrest was made yesterday afternoon by Ernest A. Breakfield Jr. and John L. Burkholder, investigators for the alcohol and tobacco division of the Treasury Department, on a warrant issued by Commissioner Avirett. They were accompanied by Special Agent Ernest E. Nizer of the Baltimore office of the IRS.

Hafer has been under investigation on income tax matters, Agent Kyhos said.

Crawford Is New President Of Firemen

Cromwell Zembower Gets Top Honors

Charles Crawford, of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Department, yesterday afternoon was elected president of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association which held its 50th anniversary convention in Frostburg.

Cromwell C. Zembower, of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company, walked away with two top honors bestowed on a volunteer fireman.

He was chosen as "Fireman of the Year" and also received the James E. Lamberson Memorial Award for his work in fire prevention.

Roll call at the opening of the convention indicated that 28 of the 31 member companies were present as well as 16 past presidents.

Court Orders Decision On Senate Makeup

Anne Arundel Must Act On Question

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland Court of Appeals ordered the Anne Arundel County Circuit Court Friday to decide promptly whether the state Senate is malapportioned in violation of the constitutional rights of metropolitan residents.

The Maryland Committee for Fair Representation had asked the state's high court to decide the question itself. It said Circuit Court Judge O. Bowie Duckett had sidestepped the issue earlier.

Judge Duckett ruled on May 24 that membership of the House of Delegates was unconstitutionally apportioned and said it was his belief that the Senate need not be reapportioned, since it is primarily based on geography.

He did not make a final decision in regards to the Senate but reserved the right to do so later if it were needed.

Is Remanded

The high court said Friday, "having considered the (committee's) motion to accelerate the appeal, (the state's) motion to dismiss the appeal, and the (committee's) answer to (the state's) motion, it is . . . ordered (underlined) by the court of appeals that this case be remanded to the Circuit Court of Anne Arundel County, with directions to enter a decree promptly declaring Section 2 (Senate) of Article III of the constitution to be valid or invalid, as said court may determine."

Immediately following Judge Duckett's decision, Gov. Tawes called the Maryland Legislature into special session and it passed a temporary reapportionment measure adding 19 seats to the House for four big counties and two Baltimore City districts. These will take effect in the November 1962 elections.

Asks Dismissal

The Fair Representation Committee, at the same time the House was being reapportioned, appealed the lower court's decision not to make a ruling on the Senate. The state said Judge Duckett's ruling was an interlocutory decree and was not appealable. It asked the high court to dismiss the appeal.

The committee replied to the state's dismissal motion saying it was appealable since the high court ordered Judge Duckett initially to determine both questions and that he had decided only half of the issue.

The committee asked that the high court hear further arguments and decide the question itself. "We see no purpose in sending the case back to the lower court and directing Judge Duckett to decide a question the court already has directed him to decide."

Is Notified

Judge Duckett, notified at his home of the order by the Court of Appeals, said he was uncertain as to his next move but that

Demos Adopt Platform For Fall Election

Racial Equality, Pay Hike Favored

By FRANK WETZEL

BALTIMORE (AP)—Delegates to the State Democratic Convention officially nominated the party candidates for the November general election and adopted a party platform Friday.

The party platform asked for enactment of an equal accommodations bill, salary increases for all 22,000 state employees and an auto inspection program.

The platform was adopted without debate, although Charles J. Luthardt Sr. of Glen Burnie, unsuccessful candidate for governor who claimed membership in the John Birch Society, booed when the equal accommodations plank was read. A spattering of applause, the only such during the reading of the platform, offset Luthardt's booing.

There was a brief discussion about the platform, but it never reached the convention floor.

Meeting Is Closed

Rourke Sheehan of the Montgomery County delegation said he proposed to the Resolutions Committee that the Maryland Senate be reapportioned and the unit vote be abolished. He said his proposals were turned down by voice vote. The meeting of the committee was closed to reporters. Milton F. Lurch, delegate from Prince Georges County, said he supported Sheehan's proposals before the committee.

Although the nominations were determined by the voting in the May 15 primary, the law requires the convention to officially nominate the party's candidates.

Gov. Tawes, in accepting the nomination, said the victory in the primary was not a personal triumph.

Rather, he said, it was "vindication of the policies and programs which I, and those working with me, have shaped and endeavored to carry out for the benefit of the people of this state."

He listed the accomplishments of his four years as governor and indicated he would campaign against the Republican gubernatorial nominee, Frank Small Jr., on his record.

Losers Appear

As each primary winner was put in nomination at the convention, his opponents in the party primary trooped to the platform to declare his support for the winner.

George P. Mahoney, Baltimore County contractor and one of Tawes' chief opponents in the bitter gubernatorial campaign, avoided, however, a direct endorsement of Tawes.

He emphasized that he was following the custom when he released his unit votes to Tawes. "I want to assure you," Mahoney said, "that I have always been a Democrat and I assure that I shall always remain a Democrat." That was as close as he came to an endorsement of Tawes.

David Hume, the third chief Democratic candidate for governor, by contrast, left no doubt of his support for the winning ticket.

"Now," Hume said, "we must work within the framework of the party . . . If there has been weakness, let us create strength where there was weakness . . . from the inside, from the heart."

Tawes Cites Record

Tawes listed as accomplishments of his administration the reapportionment of the House of Delegates; a sound financial program; construction of new highways; a vigorous program to conserve the high caliber of public educators; better care for the mentally ill and the creation of greater job opportunities.

Nominated Friday with Tawes were Daniel B. Brewster of the U. S. Senate, Louis L. Goldstein for state comptroller, Thomas B. Finan for attorney general, and Carlton R. Sickles for congressman-at-large. All but Sickles were members of the Tawes ticket during the primary campaign.

Judge William C. Walsh of Cumberland acted as chairman of the Resolutions Committee and also nominated Finan for attorney general.

Phone Workers To Get Increase

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of Maryland agreed Friday to wage increases ranging from $2 to $4.50 per week for about 5,000 employees in Maryland.

The salary increase was announced in a joint statement by L. Mercer Smith, vice president of the company, and William K. Edwards, area director of the Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO.

No figures were available immediately on present wage scales. The provisions of the new agreement become effective Sunday, subject to ratification by the union members.

The bargaining negotiations were conducted under the current company-union general agreement effective two years ago for a three-year period with wage reopener provisions for each year.

Film To Be Shown

A film, "Mediterranean Holiday," open to the public will be shown tonight at 9:30 in grill room of the Fort Cumberland Hotel by the Conlon Travel Agency.

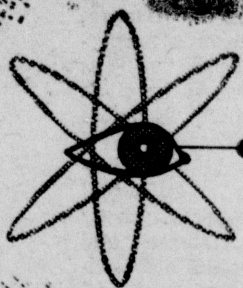

Discuss Convention Activities

Maryland Democrats got together in Baltimore yesterday for the 1962 state convention where they decided on the planks in the party platform for the general election campaign. They also formally nominated Governor Millard Tawes as the party's gubernatorial candidate. Several state central committee chairmen are seen here discussing convention activities with conven-

JULIE AND CAROL AT CARNEGIE HALL CBS-TV SPECIAL MONDAY, JUNE 11

Julie Andrews and Carol Burnett team up again in an hour-long version of their brief guesting on a 1961 "Gary Moore Show". Hit number is Western duet, "The Big D."

Dr. Kildare Buried In Fan Mail

Richard Chamberlain has won many stamps of approval and is being enveloped in fame. The young performer who portrays "Dr. Kildare" on NBC-TV every Thursday night is the biggest thing that's happened in the past decade to the mailroom payroll at MGM Studios, Culver City, Calif., where the hit series is filmed.

Every unassigned secretary on the lot has been drafted for duty to help mailroom regulars answer Chamberlain's fan mail. It totals 1,000 letters a day—give or take a few dozen. Eva Clark, head of the mailroom there, says Chamberlain is the studio's biggest draw in the fan mail league since Clark Gable hit his peak.

Just Don't Last

Mitch Miller says he just read about a Civil War couple who got a divorce. "Shows you!" asserts Mitch, "that these wartime romances just don't last!"

Peggie Castel of "Lawman" says girls as cute as a kitten can be as cunning as a cat!

Authentic Items For Ness Story

Bob Stack reports that when a scene in a 1931 junk yard was required recently for "The Untouchables," research men spent two days assembling items that belonged to that time period.

"We didn't want any complaints that we were showing 1940 tires or kitchenware," Bob explains.

Poston Taking Vocal Lessons

Tom Poston is taking singing lessons. Poston had the lead in "Hail, the Conquering Hero," several years back but that was a resounding flop. Last summer, again smitten with the musical comedy urge, he did "Destry Rides Again" in Dallas and St. Louis and was well received.

Tom is also reacting a movie career that started and ended nine years ago. He recently starred in a movie, "Zotz," and will head for London soon to star in "The Old Dark Castle," a William Castle horror film.

Show Digs Into German Generations

NBC News will use a unique program-within-a-program technique to show the reactions of West German youths as they view a TV report on the Nazi era.

Students at the Harburg School for Boys in Hamburg were filmed as they watched a screening of "The Third Reich," a series broadcast in West Germany last year. The sequence will be seen on "Germany: Fathers and Sons" Friday, June 15, (9:30-10:30 p. m. EDT), a program examining the division between the older Germans who lived under Hitler and the younger generation.

Program includes scenes of Ghetto, nothing unusual for the Harburg School.

Skin Conditioner Has High Cost

In a recent episode of "The Flintstones," Betty Rubble, one of the stars, won a "most beautiful hands" contest by using porcupine milk as a skin conditioner.

"Porcupine milk is wonderful," says Betty, "but exorbitantly priced. It is scarce, even at $10,000 a quart, for two main reasons: One: porcupines are notoriously poor producers. Two: There is an absolute dearth of skilled milkers due to the occupational hazards involved."

Husband Demands First Things First

Barry Sullivan of "Tall Man" tells of the man suing for divorce. He was on the witness stand and his attorney asked: "Isn't it true that every night when you'd come home from work to your wife you'd find a different man hiding in the closet?" The husband answered in the affirmative.

"And this of course," continued the lawyer, "caused you untold anguish and happiness, did it not?" The husband replied heatedly, "Of course it did. I never had any room to hang up my clothes!"
